On the map Greencastle is a typical small midwestern town. But to seventeen hundred DePauwites this scene represents a four year home away from home.

• SEPTEMBER

Unpacking, Redecorating And Noisy Greetings Opened the DePauw Year

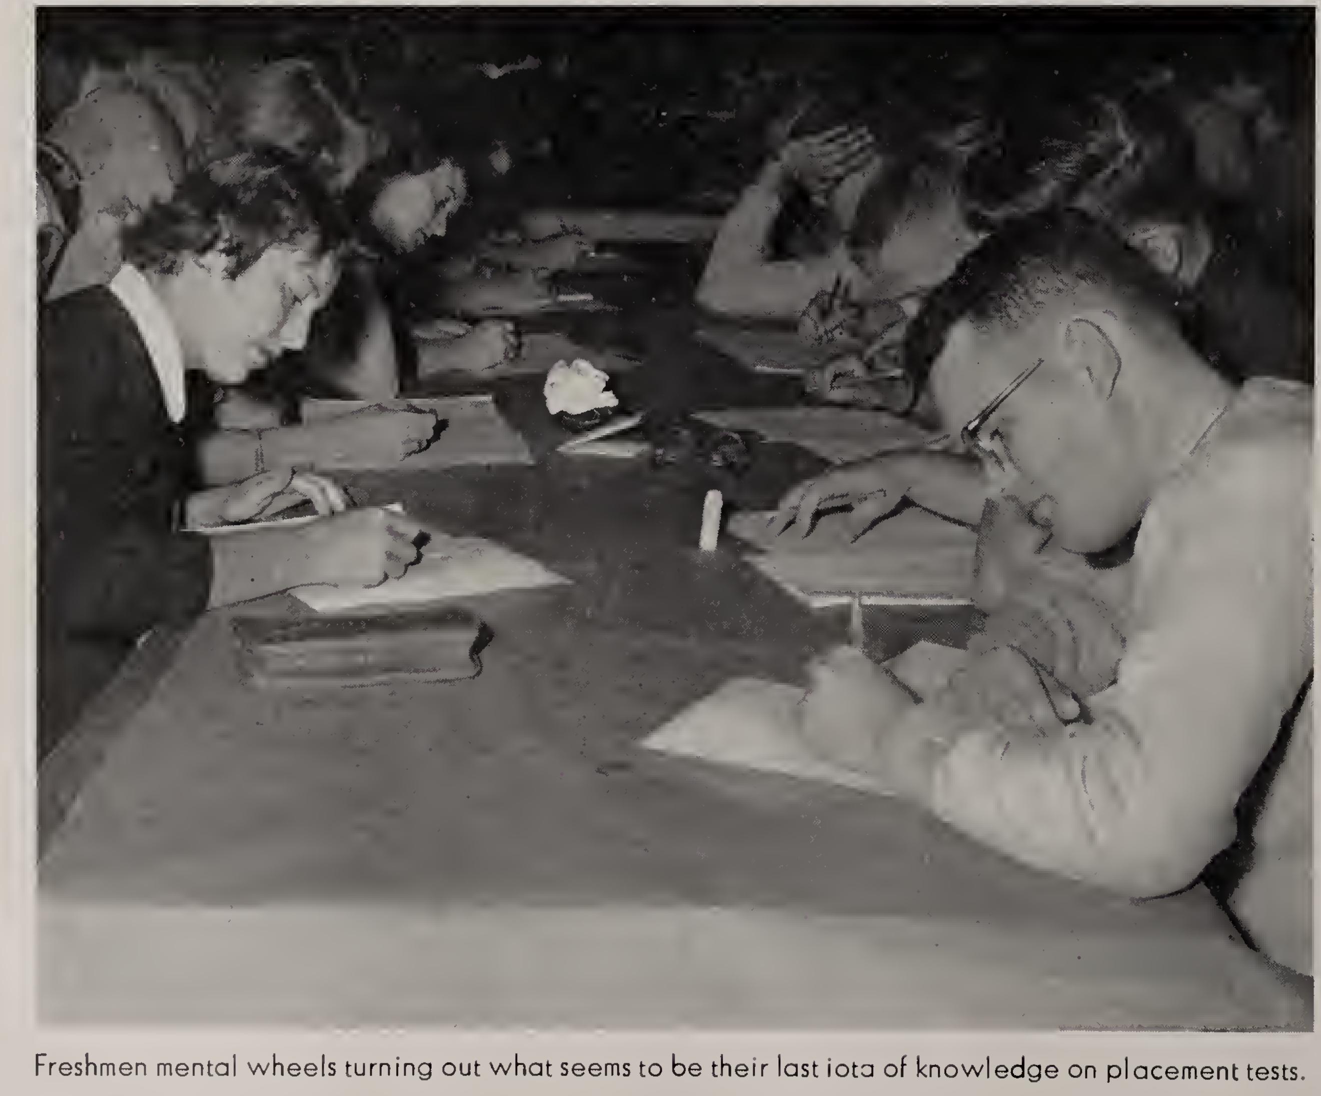
Sleepy Greencastle awoke one September Sunday to find its population slowly increasing. Overloaded cars crept to campus residences; APO boys burdened down with suitcases guided freshmen to their rooms; upperclassmen began brushing away cobwebs, holding noisy reunions at each new arrival; and parents strolled down campus walks. Summer was officially over and Greencastle knew that DePauw had begun another memorable year.

Unpacking created such chaos that even a procrastinator had to finish before she could retire.

Students sometimes found it desirable (often disastrous) to redecorate their rooms to suit their personalities.

Take one part registration and blend with three parts testing. Add conducted tours and physical examinations, then beat well. Next, combine a dash of rushing and one part each of new books, blind dates, and after hours parties. Mix these ingredients and top with green hats. Result: the freshman class.

Upperclassmen left intellectual pursuits to freshmen while they performed manual tasks in preparation for rush.



Freshmen mental wheels turning out what seems to be their last iota of knowledge on placement tests.

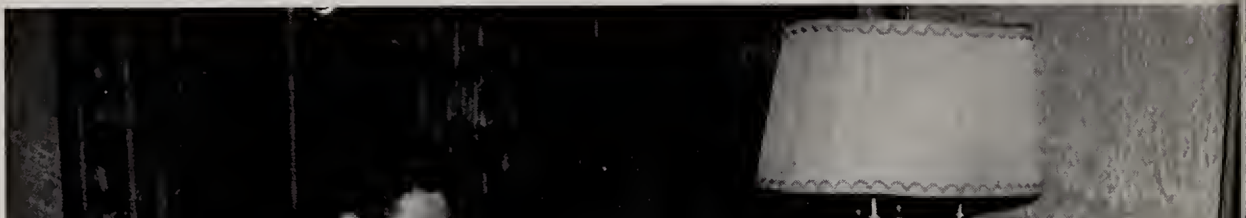
Registration was the week's final delight. All students pushed through Bowman's maze in a brave try to sign up for classes.

As rushees ran between houses, footwear evolved from practicality to beauty in ten minutes changes.



Fraternity men gathered in huddles to enlighten prospective members on club's finer points.

Using more subtle persuasion, sorority women displayed their talents in elaborate skits.

It doesn't take a student of word derivatives to understand why "rush" is the name for the week when Greek groups and freshmen choose each other. Rushees sped to parties, conversation flowed constantly, hundreds of "Had a wonderful time," were said, and somehow, out of the confusion, houses emerged with a freshman class to add to their ranks.

A Week of Rush Resulted In Twenty-three Pledge Classes for the Greeks

Open houses introduced new pledges, climaxing a hectic week.

This Year's Innovations Added Extra Spice to Traditional Field Day

If this is as much fun as it looks, Blackstock wil' be mobbed next year by aspiring orange passers.

Fred Ringley wasn't sure whether it was a female squadron of Space Cadets or rebirth of the Ku Klux Klan.

A bright September day, blue and white sweatshirts plus varicolored "pots" scattered over Blackstock, sophomore, tug-of-wars, and three-legged races all added up to DePauw's version of the county fair at this first mass campus gathering since registration. Collegiate sophistication disappeared and freshmen and seniors alike joined in everything from eating pie to throwing eggs.

Now DePauw men won't wonder why their date is always late. There's no better teacher than experience.

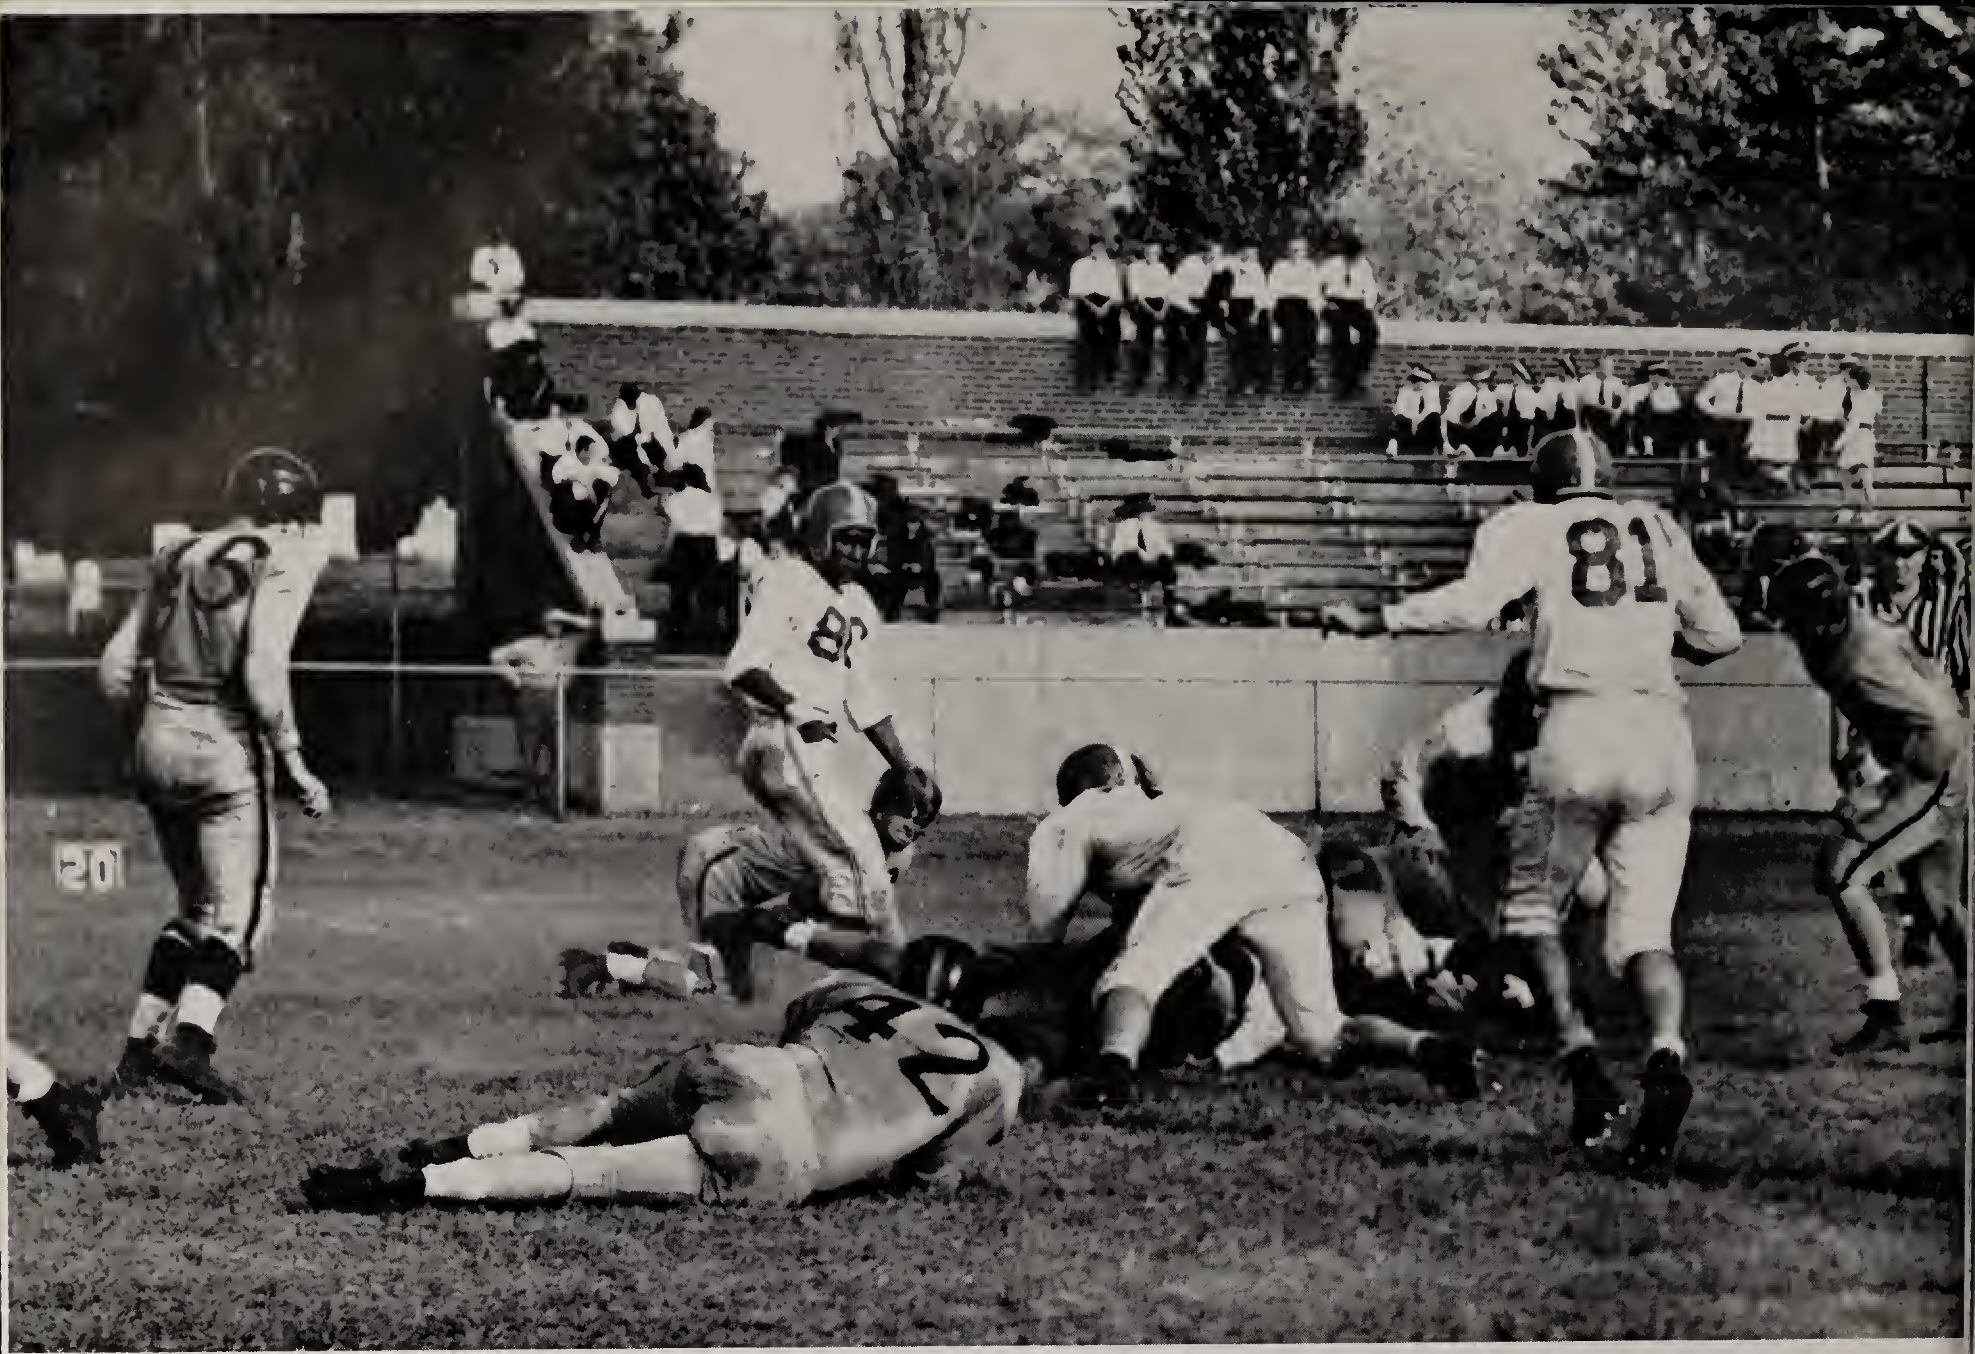
Sunday night at the Double provided DePauwites with a last chance to relax before turning to thoughts of classes. Crowded conditions never discouraged this elite clientele.

Casual and Informal—

Descriptive of a

Weekend in September

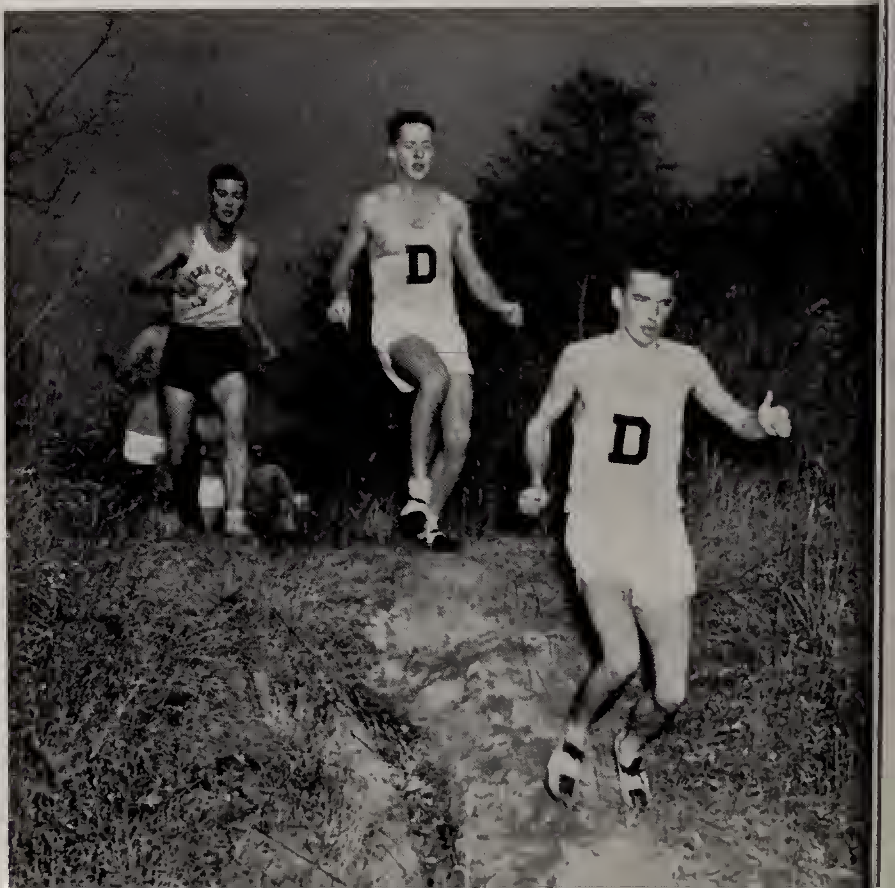
Jeans, walking shoes, a blanket, and a date were the necessary ingredients for a successful fall blanket party.



DePauw ball-handling errors such as this fumble proved costly, as Ball State outscored the Tigers 28-7 in the first game at Blackstock. However, the experience gained by promising underclassmen should prevent a recurrence next year.

October Opened a Tough Home Schedule for Gridders and Harriers

Jack Rosenow led the young Tiger cross-country squad to an opening victory over Indiana Central.



Chills increased as gas lights dimmed in fall's Angel Street. Dave Stockwell, Pat Clift, and Dick Sieben were principals in the complicated story.

Little Theater Programs And Big Sister Parties Entertained the Campus

Brisk air and a bonfire at the A.W.S. Big-Little Sister picnic behind Blackstock sharpened appetites and developed a larger appreciation of the "great indoors."

Old Gold Spirit Shone For Returning Alumni At Annual Homecoming

Adding a touch of royalty to homecoming festivities, Dick Rathke performed the coronation ceremony, officially naming Waneta Maxwell Old Gold Day Queen.

A wall of Oberlin linemen momentarily halted a DePauw thrust; however, the Tigers recovered to claim their best performance of the year, a 7-7 tie.

With alums thronging the campus, tradition ran rampant. But then, what is Old Gold Day without a mum for Mom?

After a year's rest, houses produced unusual themes for their decorations. The DZ soap boxes and Lambda Chi tiger added a cup to their respective trophy cases.

DePauw's marching band displayed their ability at half time with a little subtle advertising for GDP.

Carnival Capers Helped To Raise Funds for World Student Service

Hey! "Paint a Pledge's Face!" "Ring a Leg, Win a Kiss!" Watch the Turtle Derby! See the faculty parody, "I Have a Secret!" Not a county fair midway—just the WSSF Carnival combining fun with funds in a drive for contributions to the World Student Service Fund.

The feasibility of Aesop's "Tortoise and the Hare" was apparent when the WSSF turtles, bought by individual houses, decided that they weren't as enthusiastic about racing as their onlookers. It took some prodding to get them into the spirit.

The Theta-Lambda Chi booth carried the intriguing title of "Ring-a-Leg-Win-a-Kiss." But eager beavers and sure shots soon found that the promised prize was a chocolate kiss!

Girls pushed back furniture, decorated furiously all day, and donned formals in the evening for their annual fall dance.

Relax, dear reader. Orchesis has not accepted masculine membership. It's the Phi Psis and Betas playing off the speedball championship.

House Functions Filled
Scarce Leisure Moments
In Too Busy Schedules

Jane Dorner, selected as Queen of the 1953 Military Ball, received the loving cup from Cadet Colonel Bill Rasmussen.

The "Men in the Baggy Blue Suits" Spruced Up For the Military Ball

ROTC men proved that college can be a "ball" at the year's first 1:00 hours dance. The "men in the baggy blue suits" displayed their social ability by staging the second annual Military Ball, "Silver Wings." Queen crowning ceremonies elevated Jane Dorner to the rank of honorary AFROTC colonel with Barb Loveday and Judy Linn in her court of honor.

Preparations had been brewing long in advance for DePauw sorceresses to spirit their chosen men away to a place of enchantment. On Halloween night between 9:00 and midnight, strange magical sounds were heard from the U.B. Walt Loftiss and his orchestra provided the background for ritual dances —bunny hop and rhumba—at Pan-Hel's "Midnight Masque."

Dancing chickenwire shadows set the mood for Pan-Hel as couples gathered in the UB lobby at intermission.

Panhellenic Entertained Halloween Revelers With Scholarship Dance

Putting up decorations for the Pan-Hel dance wasn't nearly as much work as it was fun to get together.

Busy Dads and Students Interrupted Work for Weekend Get-together

Although their fathers were thousands of miles away, DePauw's foreign students took an active part in Dad's Day festivities with adopted dads from Indianapolis, one event being a UB reception after the game.

Dads filled Speech Hall to see G. B. Shaw's "The Devil's Disciple." Featuring Tek Osborn and Mary Jean Newlin in the leads, the play was presented by the Little Theatre group.

Bill Fearer heads for the corner to avoid Lake Forest defensive men. Fearer was stopped shy of the goal line, but registered the longest run of the day as the Tigers lost, 16-7.

Dr. Charles Kendall, leader of this Fall's Religious Evaluation Week, drew an audience that overflowed into Gobin's choir loft.

Religious Evaluation Provided an Interim for Serious Thought

Dr. Charles Kendall, from Phoenix, Arizona, led the campus in Religious Evaluation Week, packing students and townspeople into Gobin in increasingly large numbers. His messages with their strong student appeal were received enthusiastically by DePauwites. Morning Watch Services in Gobin and after hours discussions in houses and dorms added to a week when a students' religious thinking was greatly stimulated.

Contrasting to Religious Evaluation Week was the Wabash pep rally, starting at the UB with cheers and climaxed by a huge bonfire.

The annual Wabash tangle, ending in DePauw defeat, resulted in a resolve to turn the tables next year.

Hatchets were buried as both Cavemen and DePauwites danced at the KTK sponsored formal in Bowman Gym.

Waiting tables at a sorority house offered two desirable benefits—an abundance of both food and girls.

At 10:00 A.M. each Wednesday and Friday all walks led to the Boulder, which has been for many years the accepted meeting-place for Chapel dates.

The rigorous inspections were a part of the ROTC program.

DePauw opened the new basketball season by defeating St. Joseph, defending conference champions.

John Mason Brown presented some of his observations in a chapel talk entitled "Seeing Things."

Students Participated In Philanthropic and Cultural Activity

Delta Phi Eta and Alpha Phi Omega combined to help make Christmas merry for town children.

At their fall concert, Orchesis members displayed their skill and grace—talents developed after hours of strenuous practice.

The privileged and underprivileged merged forces to decorate the Christmas tree for Santa.

All was not gaiety and laughter, though, as others studied frantically for pre-holiday exams.

Social Life Reached Its Peak During the Big Before-Christmas Whirl

The rush in the dorms to sign in after dates was a good time to find out who was out with whom.

Ties of Christian fellowship brought together members of MSM for Sunday night supper in Gobin church basement.

Improved Chapels, Civic Music Programs Brought Celebrities to Campus

Although much of the time was filled with bridge, coffee, studying, and movie dates, DePauw's calendar found space this year for many noted speakers, musical artists, and other celebrities. The newly organized Civic Music Association offered students and townspeople opportunities to hear famous musicians, such as Nathan Milstein. Also, chapel programs scheduled off-campus speakers, as well as featuring members of the DePauw family.

Cornelia Otis Skinner, pictured performing one of her famous monologues, presented one of the many excellent chapel programs.

The Civic Music Association initiated its Concert series with Nathan Milstein, who ranks among today's best violinists.

Indiana State and DePauw basketball players fight for the rebound. The Tigers won the game, 67-57.

WGRE's control room provided a place for students interested in the technical aspects of radio.

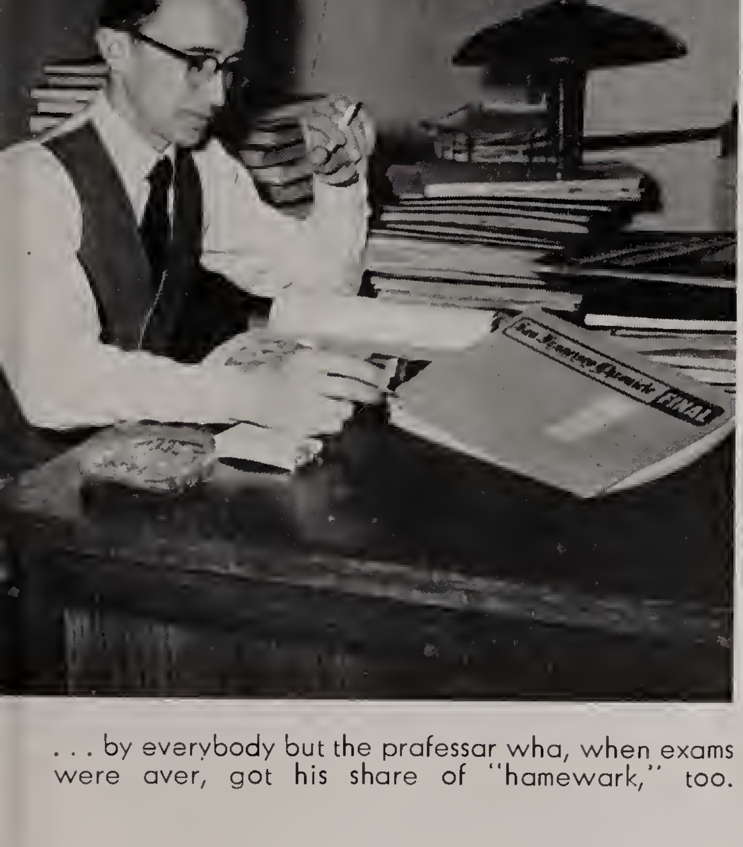
Sports and Activities Were a Prominent Part Of the Student's Life

Final Exams Brought Sudden Emphasis on Scholarly Pursuits

Studying with one's roommate for finals provided a more pleasant atmosphere in which to tackle the books . . .

. . . but the library was a favorite of many students. Not only did it provide a place of quiet, it also furnished an excellent place for contacting fellow students. Regardless of favorite study habits all agreed that . . .

. . . the best part of studying was the campus-wide habit of "the break," around which study schedules were arranged. Exams and papers, however, were quickly forgotten . . .



. . . by everybody but the professor who, when exams were over, got his share of "homework," too.

The climax of studying, "breaking," and grading came when apprehensive students picked up their grades.

Greek Week Helped in Promoting Campus and Community Relations

KTK-Pan-Hel sponsored activities during Greek Week sent DePauw students into Greencastle to help with community projects. Fraternities did everything from tearing down stables to cleaning up hospitals, while sororities surveyed Greencastle for the Chamber of Commerce. Sorority exchanges, an interfraternity sing, and Reverend Robert Fribley's chapel talk found all "Greeks" working together to make their week a success.

During Greek Week fraternities devoted their time and muscles to manual tasks such as tearing down stables in Robe Ann.

The girls led a more sedate life, and the best part of the week for them was the Panhel sorority exchanges.

"The Caucus Race" Was Monon Revue's Musical for '54

Sally Gilkison and Dick Turmail, Monon brother and sister, apparently don't see eye to eye on a controversial subject.

The arrival of Hazel Smart and aesthetic husband, Henry, at the Cribbon's farm was received with varied emotions.

The Gridiron Banquet Roasted Faculty and Students Mercilessly

"Blow off your neighbor as he would do unto you" was the Golden Rule of the annual SDX-ADS Gridiron Banquet. Rare was the man who escaped the Roastmaster's caustic comments without at least being singed, and most guests found themselves roasted to a crisp brown.

Gridiron was concluded with the roastmaster's presentation of the Leather Medal to Dr. Wallace Carson, the Brown Derby to Dr. Wallace Graves, and the Best Teacher Award to Dr. Charles Bieber.

President Humbert and Dean Farber battled it out for GDP only to find they were both all wet.

Faculty took off on the ever present chaperone at the over-organized fraternity dance with Mr. Hawkins as housemother.

Golddiggers couples danced under Ming Trees and signed the guest book in a pagoda at the AWS dance.

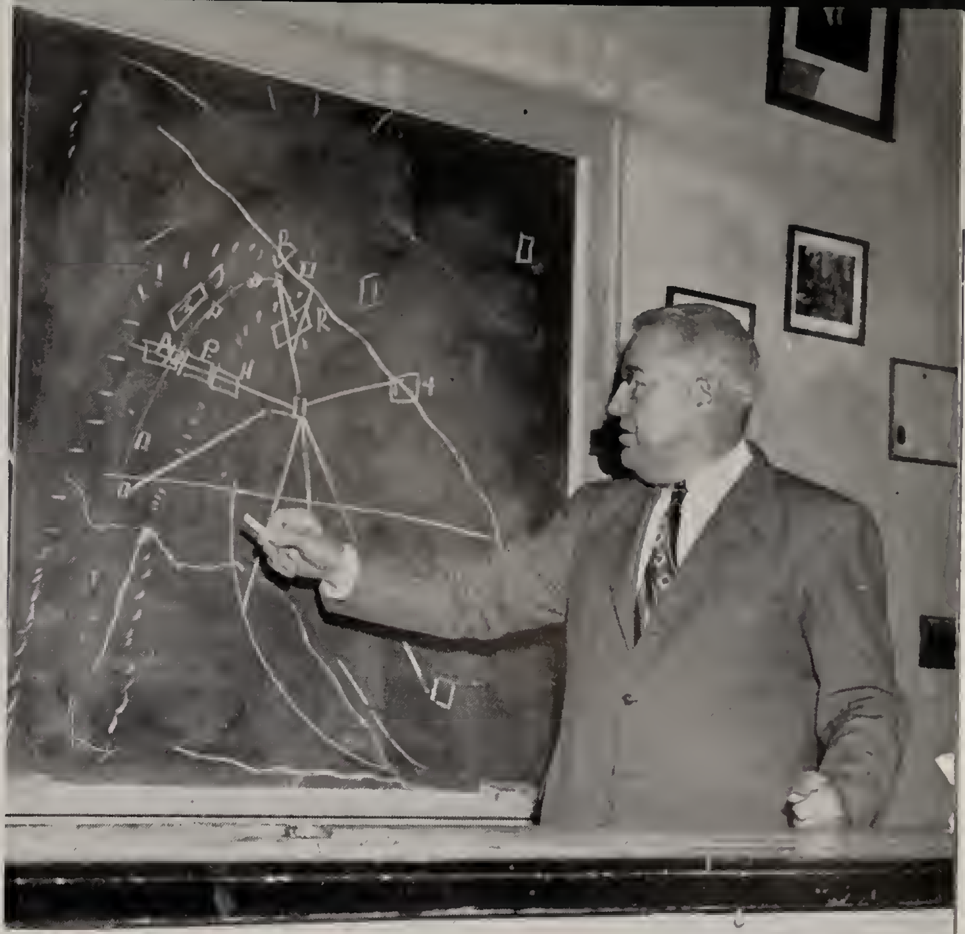
Girls Escorted and Footed the Bill For Golddigger's

The corsages worn by the boys showed each girl's ingenuity and her date's interests and hobbies.

Relaxing in front of the fireplace, DePauw couples forsaked the Voncastle and bowling alleys for less strenuous prusuits.

Students and Faculty Cultivated Interests In Leisure Hours

Dr. Freda Wolfson, exchange history professor from England, found that getting acquainted with the United States and DePauw was an interesting though time consuming task.



An expert armchair strategist, Dr. Crandall fought his perennial Battle of Gettysburg.

Starting the weekend with a Friday afternoon session in the Hub was a custom that many DePauwites helped to preserve.

Little Theater reverted to the old method of producing a play "in the round" with "Much Ado About Nothing."

Cosi Fan Tutte

DePauw went cultural when Opera Workshop presented their annual opera. The 1953 selection was "Cosi Fan Tutte."

There's more than one way to pass an exam. Seniors knew it but often profs didn't cooperate.

Hiring athletes is one goal, keeping them happy is another. To do it, admissions men annually invite the cream of the coed crop into DPU'S family.

DePauw Senators registered expressions of consternation, indifference, and anticipation at this assembly in the Union Building. The U.B. was an ideal place to hold DePauw's innumerable club and organization meetings.

Scholarship Weekend Guests Received a Preview of DePauw

Naiad's graceful water ballet provided a popular source of entertainment for the scholarship-weekend guests.

Each sorority had a chance to display its musical ability before the guests at the annual Pan-Hel Sing.

The applicants for scholarships were apparently optimistic as they walked in to to take their exams.

Contemporary and Classical Both Held Spotlight

Edwin Franko Goldman, famous as a composer and conductor, directed the DePauw band during a concert at Bowman Gym.

The Shakespeare Club presented cuttings from several of the Bard's works at its banquet.

Spring, That Wonderful "Thingamajing", Was Heralded by Students

The Fiji men and their hula girls danced beneath swaying palms and a yellow moon at the annual Phi Gam party in the spring.

"Be prepared" was the byword in the slicker crowd, anticipating a downpour any minute.

The blanket party became such an institution that couples began going early to avoid the evening rush.

Mothers Kept Pace With the Tight May Day Schedule

When Mortar Board went capping at the May Day breakfast, their maneuvers kept junior activities girls in suspense until twelve of them received the coveted honor.

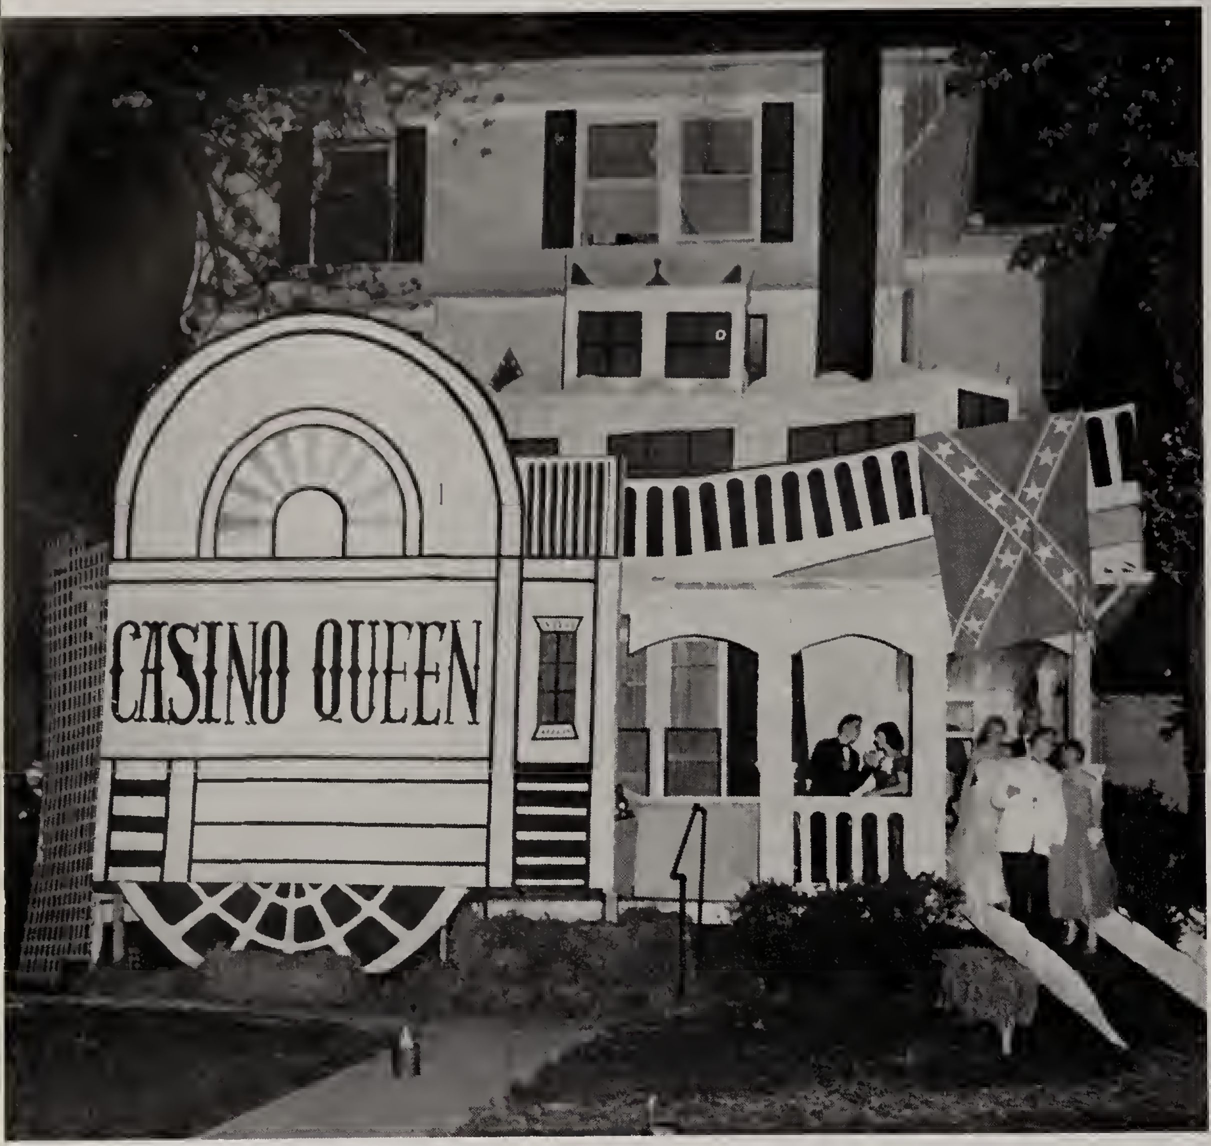
DePauw vocalists entertained Mothers at a UB program.

Barb Miller Vear reigned over the May Day Pageant at Blackstock Stadium as she watched the May Pole Dance and Orchesis Program.

A senior girl from each house was in the May Queen's court, adding more hues to a colorful field.

May Day brought countless moms to Greencastle (also an occasional dad) to be royally entertained by their offspring.

Little Theatre, falling in with the theme of the weekend, presented Clarence Day's comedy, "Life with Mother."



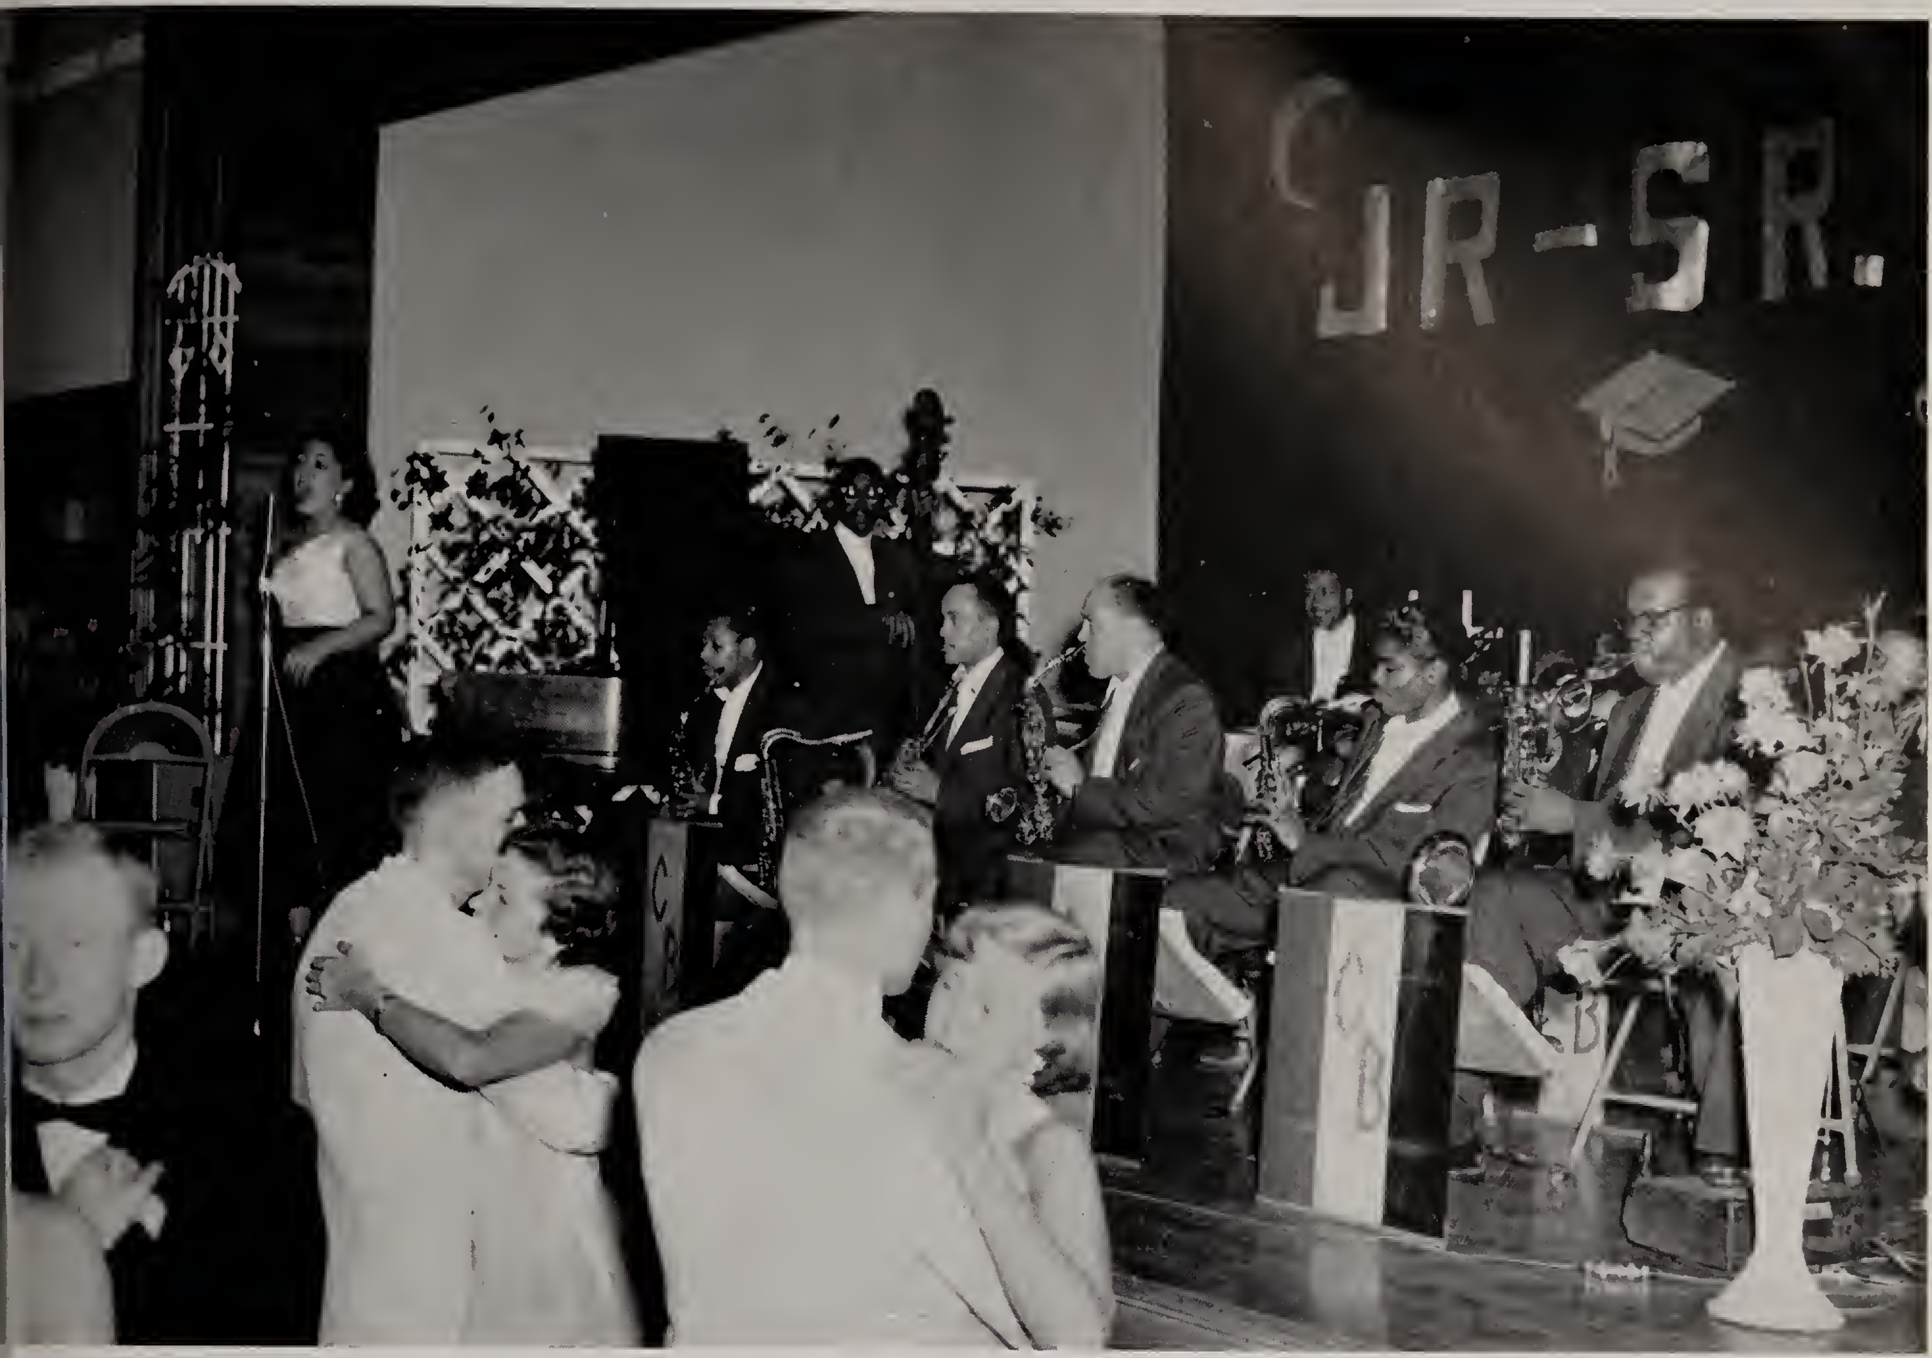
The SAE House became a Mississippi River gambling boat, complete with Confederate flag, for the evening of the spring dance.

Houses Decorated Elaborately for The Spring Dances

The campus, emerging from winter hibernation, blossomed forth with its annual spring dances. Themes were elaborate: Phi's farewell to seniors with a 1920's ball; Kappa and Pi Phi duo, "Red Shoes"; Spring itself furnished the motif for the quad dance.

Traditional fraternity parties—D.U.'s rose dance, Fiji Island, and the Delt sunken garden cabaret—were repeated to usher in a Greencastle spring with the usual fever of festivities.

Dancing in the sunken garden to the "Dixie" of the Salty Dogs climaxed the Delt's spring social program.



Count Basie and his famed "blue rhythms" set the mood for the final big formal dance of the year.

Fast stepping often took the stage in contrast to the usual more subdued waltz and two-step.

Count Basie Set the Beat for the Yearly Junior-Senior Prom

The '53 social season ended on a high note at the Junior-Senior Prom on May 16th. That high note and the low ones were played by Count Basie's swing band, as balmy weather contributed to the atmosphere. Students gathered at the UB for a last fling before finals.

Sorority back yards overflowed with coeds trying to get rid of that library pallor.

Seniors Turned to Relaxing Pursuits At the Year's End

The Tri Delt Pansy Breakfast—a tradition for engaged seniors.

The Baccalaureate Service provided a few moments for nostalgic meditation in a busy Commencement Day schedule.

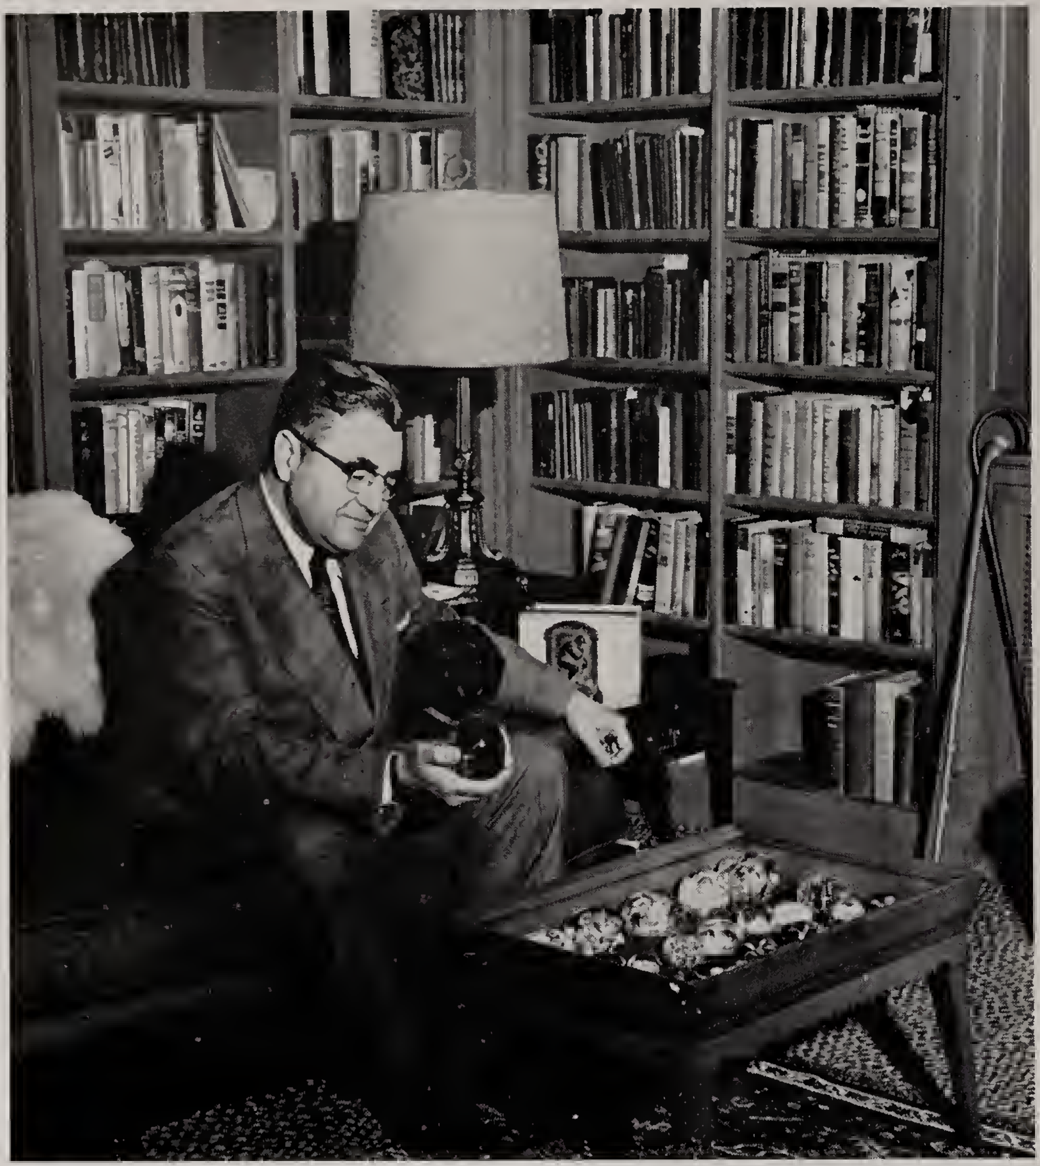
Seniors Received Their Diplomas—Passports To an Unknown Future

A perfect evening for a blanket party . . . but 330 seniors wore caps and gowns rather than jeans . . . the academic procession headed toward Monon Springs but ended at Blackstock . . . at the ceremony's end, seniors left remembering that they too are, as commencement speaker Wayne Andrew Johnson put it, a part of "the Abiding Spirit of DePauw."

Led by the color guard and the University Marshall, the Senior procession entered Blackstock Stadium to receive their degrees.

ACADEMIC

foods



Dr. Humbert momentarily relaxes during a busy school year and contemplates his unusual collection of paper weights.

President Russell J. Humbert: GDPersonified

Not to be outdone by her collector husband, Mrs. Humbert proudly displays her antique glassware.

A native "Buckeye" and minister by vocation, Russell J. Humbert first became interested in college administration while serving on the Board of Trustees of both Mt. Union College and Baldwin Wallace College in Ohio. A College of Wooster and Boston University graduate himself (with honorary degrees from Mt. Union and Wabash), he was named DePauw's president in June, 1951. Our efficient president has not only put in full time on his prescribed presidential duties but has also become the mainstay of the Greater DePauw Program. This drive for funds and fame for DePauw has taken him to alumni clubs all over the country. His inspired messages and dynamic personality have gained great respect for him and DePauw wherever he has spoken.

Farber Heads Curriculum Investigation Committee

"Dean of the University,"—one of the least defined positions at DePauw, but one of the most important, is held by Dr. Farber for the second year.

Dr. Farber's main responsibility is to the faculty, both in selection and leadership. This year he heads a committee for investigation of curriculum. With its aim to bring new educational ideas into the liberal arts ideal, the investigation is focused on DePauw's Experimental Curriculum.

A DePauw man himself, Dr. Farber has risen through the duties of Field Representative, Secretary of Admissions, Secretary of the Rector Scholarship Foundation, Assistant Dean of Men, and Assistant Dean of Students to his present administrative spot.

GDP Wheels Keep Turning Under Umbreit's Guidance

One time holder of the Brown Derby award for the most popular man on campus, Mr. Willard Umbreit is now putting his winning personality to good use in making friends for DePauw off campus. In his present capacity as director of the Greater DePauw Development Program, he is concentrating his efforts afield to spread DePauw's fame far and wide. "Umby", as he is called by his closer GBT friends, is ostensibly absent, and his familiar smile may be unknown to many undergraduates; yet he can still be felt as a vital cog in DePauw's machinery.

Trustees Handle Mechanics of DePauw Administration

De Pauw's "board of directors" consists of fifty-one members who are on the DePauw Board of Trustees. These members, chosen for their ability in leadership, perform the many tasks concerned with DePauw's budget, administration, policies, and welfare in general.

Howard C. Shepherd of New York presides as Board President, while the positions of Vice-President and Secretary are filled respectively by Glenn W. Thompson of Columbus, Indiana, and by Joseph H. Inglehart of Evansville, Indiana.

Divided into various committees, such as Athletics, Budget, Rector Scholarships, etc., DePauw's Board of Trustees also plays an active part in the Greater DePauw Program.

Deans Advise and Counsel Students

A psych major at the University of California, five years on the John Hopkins faculty, and his three children are the best evidence of the personnel experience of Dr. Lawrence Riggs, Dean of Students. Coping with DePauw student problems for six years has added to his experience in this line. Dean Riggs, member of the American Psychological and American College Personnel Association, continually formulates newer services as Administrator of Student Personnel.

Advisor to all the organized women of DePauw is Miss Lucile Scheuer, Assistant Dean of Students. Activities girls find her an invaluable help wherever they meet her, AWS, YWCA, or Pan Hel. Whatever the difficulty, be it a request for a spot on the school calendar or an inquiry into job possibilities, Miss Scheuer will be able to furnish a solution.

An interview with either the Director of Placements, the advisor for Selective Service, or the Assistant Dean of Students would all lead to the same office in the Administration Building to see Mr. David Robinson. Dean Robinson, a DePauw Administrator for two years, qualifies for his several titles through his own varied vocational experiences and a seven year stint in the Dean of Students' Office at I. U.

Be it a party or a problem, in almost any function concerned with the dorms on campus Miss Nelle Barnhart plays an important part. In her capacity of coordinating a successful residence hall program, Miss Barnhart consults with the various counselors besides keeping in close contact with the students themselves. An integral part of the DePauw family, she considers her job here the most interesting and enjoyable of her career.

The Administration Requires Many Specialists

Dr. John Wittich plays a dual role as Director of Admissions and the Rector Scholarship Foundation. Bob Reinstedt and Bob Fletcher are his lieutenants in the Admissions Department.

Mrs. Value Williams, having worked in the Registrar's Office, was well oriented to her new position as Registrar. Filing trial programs, changing schedules and granting transcripts are just some of her responsibilities.

Robert Crouch writes letters to alumni and accepts their contributions to their alma mater. Officially, he is Secretary of Alumni Affairs and Executive Secretary of the DePauw Alumni Fund.

His election to the presidency of the State Association of College and Business Officers is acknowledgment of Comptroller Deward Smythe's ability. Besides managing general funds, he also handles GDP contributions.

Dr. Otto Dobbs joined the University staff in 1948. A captain in the Naval Medical Corps during World War II, he now serves as University Physician and Medical Director.

Mr. D. L. Tourtelot spent the year enlightening newspapers all over the country on activities of DePauw and its students in his capacity as head of the News Bureau.

Asbury Hall . . . Grand Central Station of DePauw

Professor Pence and English comp majors seminar in an informal atmosphere conducive to discussion.

Asbury Hall—"crossroads of a thousand private lives." Here more paths cross than anywhere else on campus, for ten departments hold classes in Asbury. Enthusiastic freshmen attending composition classes brush shoulders with intellectual-looking philosophy majors, star-gazing astronomy students, or efficient Business Education majors. Here a political science student may enjoy a smoke with a soc major and a friend struggling through American History, while down the hall a Bible student and an econ major may be conversing. And spotting the horizon on every floor with a familiar blue are ROTC men! The mass of humanity gathered on first floor between classes proves that Grand Central Station has nothing on Asbury Hall.

While those students merely fulfilling the lab science requirement hurriedly leave the building as soon as they can, psych and geology majors call Harrison home. In Minshall Lab, the veritable haunt of pre-meds, such famous men as Dr. Percy Julian studied, learning the elements of chemistry and physics. They later applied this knowledge in making significant contributions in these fields.

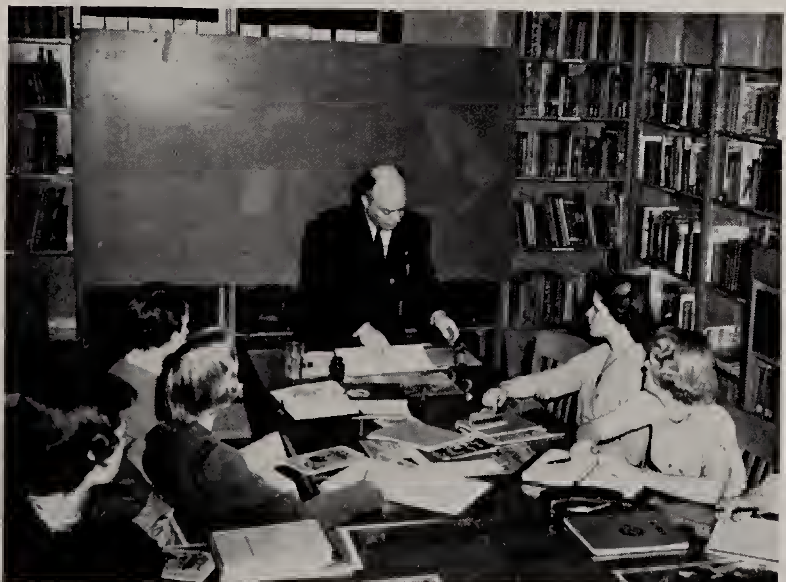
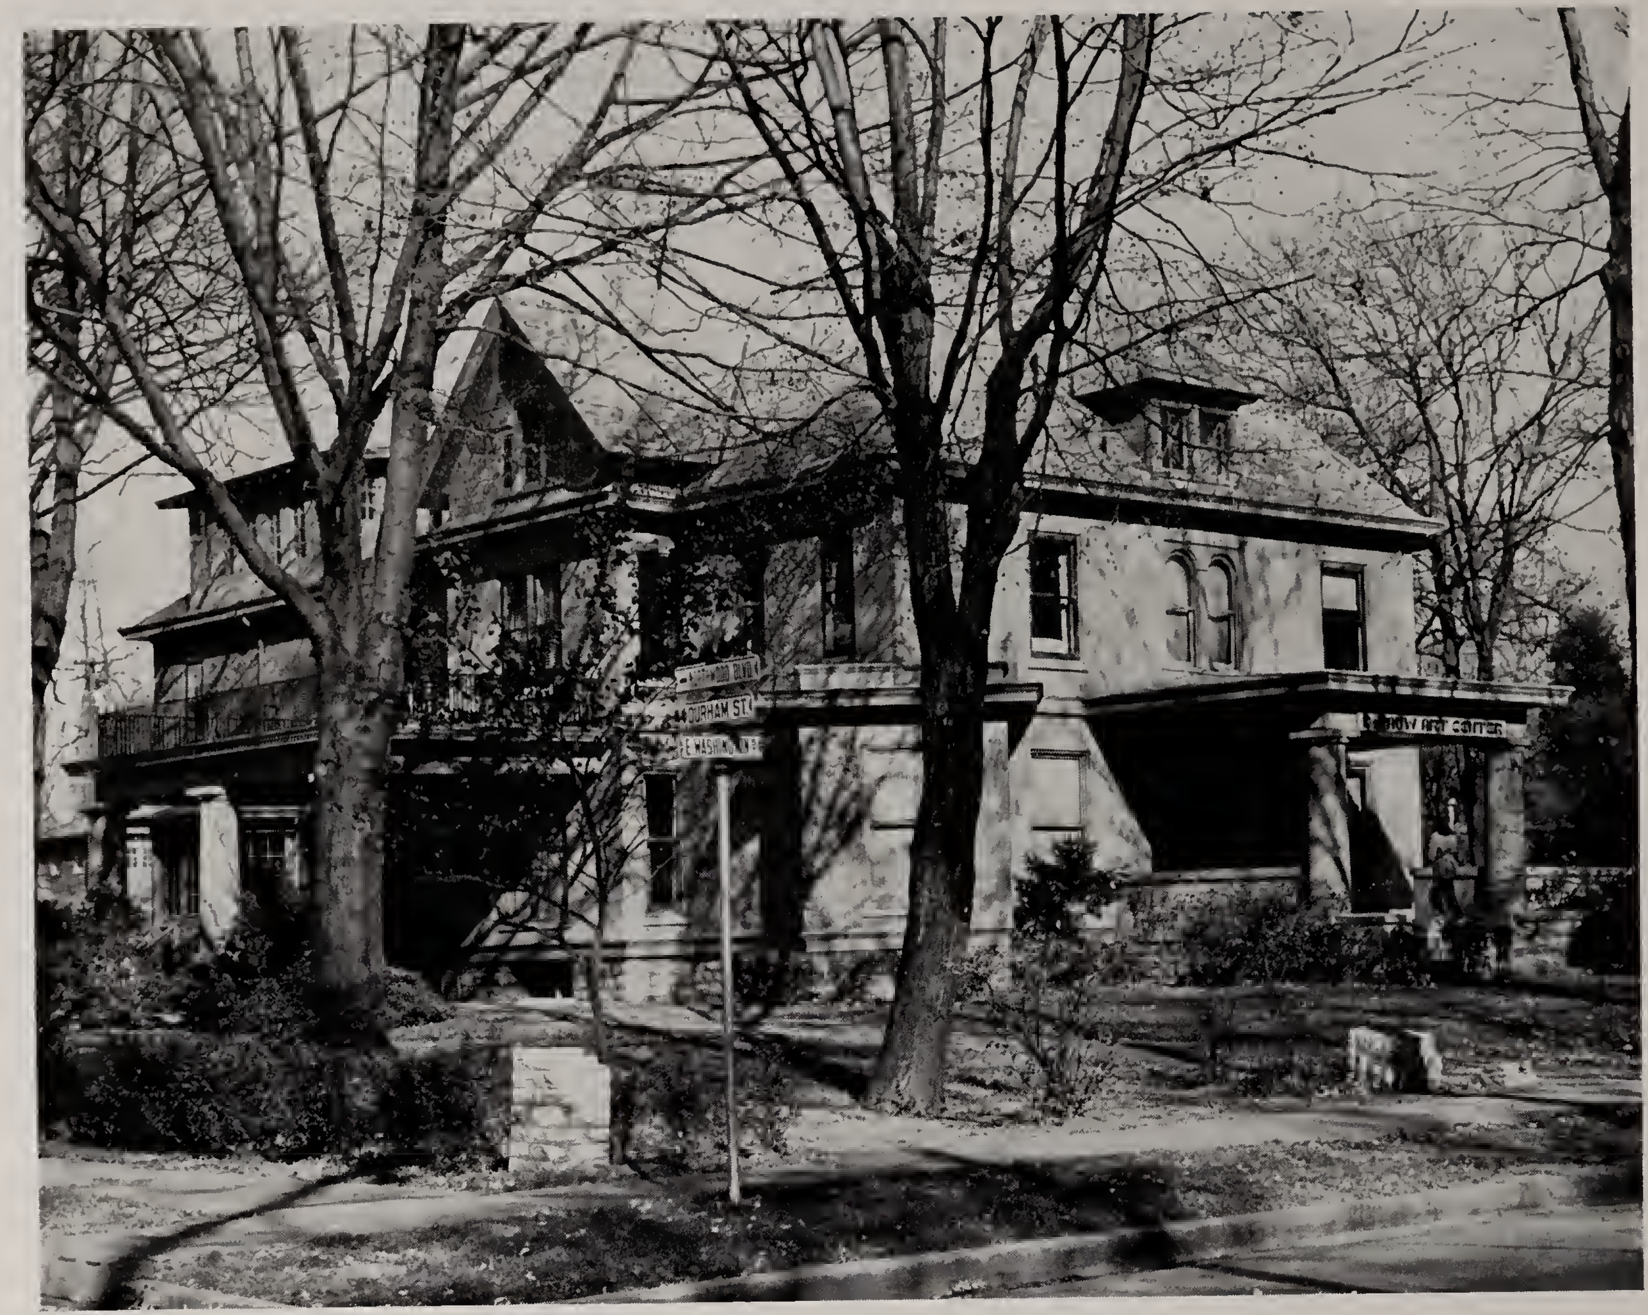
Speech Hall . . . Building with a Split Personality

Dr. Heller and class discuss the fine art of teaching.



Its church-like atmosphere is deceptive, for if there is any place on campus that does not have the church-like atmosphere of peacefulness, it is Speech Hall. An inquisitive visitor any evening before a week-end production will soon be trampled in the traffic of set-painters, costume seamstresses, lighting experts, vocalizing musicians, and emoting actors. A contrast to its exciting night life is Speech Hall's daytime activity. Then tense freshmen mount creaking stairs in apprehension of performing before their speech classes, and tired education majors beat a path to five-hour-a-week classes. This is Speech Hall—building with a split personality!



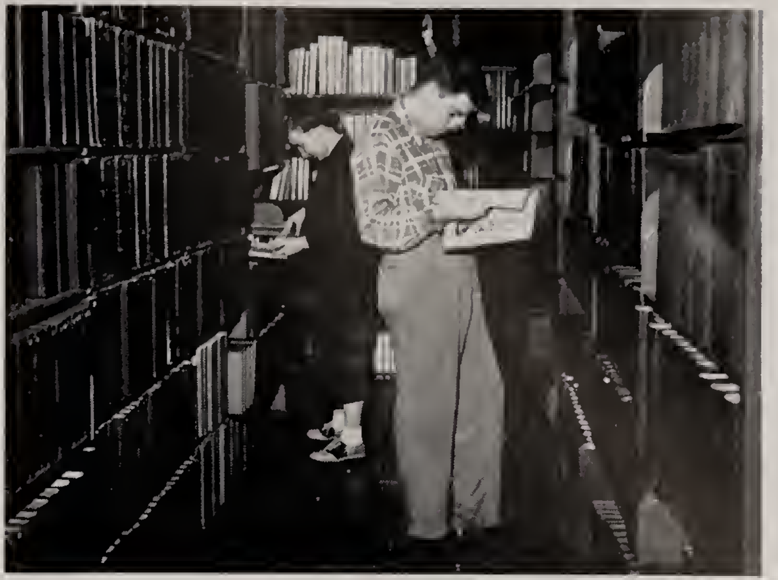
The Art Building . . . Museum in the Wilderness

A stucco house with shade trees, the Art Center looks like any Greencastle residence. Its bright yellow sign is the only hint that, instead of a family around the fireplace, one will find inside a collection of things arty—everything from a professional art exhibit to modernistic paintings by art students to paper mache animals fashioned by elementary education majors. From the basement to the attic, potter's clay, sponges, skulls, crusted easels, kerosene lamps and comfortable old davenports contribute to the atmosphere. The ruddy glow possessed by all art majors can be attributed to the invigorating hike out to the art building which keeps them in shape all year!

Warm afternoons find art students on the East College lawn.

"How many goodly creatures are there here!" (by Shakespeare) came to the mind of the student who entered the library's stacks for his first time this year. Confusion and bewilderment were resolved with a much smoother system of obtaining books for both student and librarian.

Not only a home for books, the library serves as a study hall, meeting room, and sanctuary for the weary. Many times the inadequacies of the physical plant are coupled with the inconvenient grouping of browsing, studying, or sleeping students. The GDP campaign, however, has been able to give the go ahead signal for construction of the new library, which promises many solutions to present problems.



The open stack system provides an opportunity to browse.

DePauw students consider learning to play bridge part of a liberal arts education. Here seniors enjoy their "homework."

Seniors Relaxed Before Leaving Ivory Towers

As the sun is slowly sinking
In the horizon of the west,
We say farewell to seniors
And wish them a long rest.

Since first you hit DePauw
You have new and different notions.
We know you must be leaving
With a mixture of emotions.

Each will go a different way
From Fifth Avenue to the slums.
But remember—old seniors
never die,
They just become alums.

ATHLETICS

26

Athletic Director Ended 25 Years of Service

Four men guide DePauw athletics along the lines laid out by the university's athletic policy.

Football Coach Mike Snavely has served seven seasons at the head of the Tiger grid fortunes. Tennis coach also, he has put together four Little State champions since taking over four years ago.

Bob Harvey headed the varsity basketball, track, and cross-country squads, besides serving as freshman football coach. His 1953 track team won Little State, while this year's basketball squad tied for fourth in their first crack at the ICC.

Jack Morton, the newcomer to the coaching staff, worked as football line coach, assistant basketball coach, varsity baseball coach, and intramural advisor. He was an All-Big Six end for Missouri and pro-football player before coming to DePauw.

"Gaumy" Neal, DePauw's athletic director and a familiar DePauw figure for 25 years, retired as Professor Emeritus in 1954 with a string of memories that include 16 years as football coach and his perfect-record team of 1933.

Instrumental in the improved student spirit, DePauw cheerleaders leave the ground in unison as their team scores again.

Cheerleaders Pepped Up Spectators and Teams

In good times as in bad, whether DePauw won or lost, the cheerleaders were always on the job. Led by head cheerleader Ann Pruitt, the whole squad worked hard at cheers that are so important to supporting a team. This year was a tough one athletically in spots, but this group never admitted defeat. Bonfires and pep rallies, snake dances and cheering sections were organized to help instill spirit into Tiger partisans, and their efforts paid off in noise that helped boost basketball morale to unexpected heights and made a lethargic student body come to life. The contribution of these eight people to DePauw athletics cannot be forgotten.

Managers Labored Long Hours Without Reward

Among those always behind the athletic scenes at DePauw are the managers. Like the players, they attend every practice session, besides spending countless hours checking over equipment and supplies. They are the statisticians that provide the coaches with innumerable data; they are the referees for intrasquad games. Real men of action, they serve, together with Tris and Vern, as trainers, scorekeepers, and waterboys. Their job is an important one, yet few people will attempt to handle it; for the work is never over until the season's end, and there is but little reward or glory for the managers.

Checking equipment in and out is but one phase of the managers' daily agenda.

"D" ASSOCIATION

The "D" Association, to which all DePauw varsity athletes belong, remained as active as ever. The annual Old Gold Day banquet for returning lettermen was the high point of the year. In addition, the D-men joined with WRA in sponsoring "Sports Spree" nights in the gym for men and women. To raise funds, concessions were operated at football and basketball games. President Dick Tinkham represented the club on the athletic board.

Hampered by inexperience and slowed down by injuries, the 1953 DePauw football team was able to salvage but a tie from an eight game schedule, the worst season for a Tiger eleven since 1911. It was a season of poor playing and missed opportunities, a year when "If only . . ." was the cry. Sometimes it was close.

DePauw got its first taste of defeat as it ran into a heavy, hard-running Evansville eleven and went down, 19-7. The Aces monopolized the game from the opening kickoff, with all three touchdowns coming in the second half. The Tigers tallied their lone touchdown in the second period after Gary Rutledge recovered a fumble on the Evansville 29. Jack Beabout passed to Dick Sharp from eight yards out for the score. Trailing 7-6, the Aces counted the winning margin when fullback Whittaker intercepted a Boveri pass and scampered 78 yards down the sidelines to score.

Behind 17-6 late in the last quarter, Carroll College rallied for two quick touchdowns to hand DePauw its second defeat of the season by a score of 20-17. The Tiger squad scored first on a third quarter, 14-yard field goal by Bill Wooden after a scoreless first half. End Dick Nowling took a 15-yard pass from quarterback Gary Jones for the first DePauw touchdown. Minutes later, guard Bob Fink stole the ball from a Carroll back and raced 60 yards for the final six points. The Pioneers then unleashed two long scoring drives, with the final tally coming just two minutes before the gun.

Cashing in on a fumble, a short punt, and an intercepted pass, Ball State hung a 28-7 loss on the Tigers before a disappointed home crowd. The DePauw offense, minus halfback Art Bryant, was supported mainly by freshmen Boveri and Jones, who completed 12 out of 27 passes for 139 yards. For the third straight Saturday, the Bengals broke out on top at first in the scoring, only to wilt in the second half. A bad 4th-down pass from the center gave DePauw the pigskin on the Cardinal 23. In five plays, the Tigers had the game's first score, with Marion Wingard spinning over from the five. A 65-yard punt return by halfback Don Nix and Governor Grady's extra point knotted the count at 7-all and paved the way for a trio of second half Cardinal touchdowns.

Before the Old Gold Day crowd of nearly 4500 the Tigers staved off a late Oberlin rally and gained a 7-7 tie with the Yeomen from Ohio. Sloppy tackling, poor blocking, and a shabby offense again proved to be the weakness of the Snavely grid machine. Oberlin's workhorse, Howard Furcron, rambled through and around Tiger defenders for a total of 191 yards, more than the entire DPU backfield could amass. Furcron scored the Yeoman touchdown after the Bengals had taken a 7-0 lead on Boveri's one-yard sneak in the second quarter.

Playing their finest game to date, DePauw outgained and out-fought a talented Albion eleven, but suffered a 19-0 whitewashing on the Britons' field. Led by hard-driving fullback Marion Wingard, the Bengal ground attack, effective for the first time, rolled up a total of 220 yards. An eight-yard pass by quarterback Friberg and a one-yard line plunge gave the Britons a 12-0 halftime lead. A 56-yard double reverse gave Albion their final tally.

Scoring at will in the first half, an Indiana State eleven plastered the downtrodden Tigers, 38-0. After two fumbles in the first five minutes gave ISTC a 13-0 lead, the Sycamores had no trouble crossing the goal line as they zoomed to a 32-0 halftime lead. Four of their six touchdowns came as a result of three DePauw fumbles and an intercepted pass. The other pair of ISTC scores came on a 60-yard punt return and a 50-yard pass play.

Rising to the occasion, the gridders almost presented an enthusiastic Dad's Day throng with a victory, but succumbed to a late Lake Forest rally and dropped their sixth ballgame of the year, 16-7. A recovered fumble on the Forester 37 led to the Tiger touchdown mid-way through the first period, the tally coming on a three-yard smash by Bill Fearer. Fearer almost put the Bengals two touchdowns ahead in the second quarter with a 39-yard burst through the middle of the Lake Forest line. Here the visitors stiffened and held for downs on the one-foot line. Bob Burns notched a pair of second-half TD's to give the Foresters the ball game.

Striking with devastating power, Wabash leveled a game but thoroughly outclassed DePauw eleven, 41-0, to capture the Monon bell for the fifth straight year in the 61st renewal of the oldest grid rivalry west of the Allegheny Mountains. Led by Stan Huntsman, a state scoring leader, the Little Giant offensive machine ground out a total of 443 yards. The most DePauw could muster was 119 yards on the ground and one yard in the air.

The statistics of the 1953 DePauw eleven bears out their record. Its offense gained 1406 yards, 617 of them picked up by passing. The listless Tigers scored only 45 points while their opponents racked up 188.

Individual records show quarterback Gary Jones at the top of the total offense list with 25 pass completions in 56 attempts for 295 yards. Jack Beabout and Bill Fearer were the main ground gainers. Beabout led with 227 yards in 55 carries, while Fearer picked up 204 in 71 tries. No single player scored more than seven points.

Once again back in the Indiana Collegiate Conference, DePauw's basketball team tied for fourth in the standings and had a 10-10 record for the year. Bob Schrier and Gene Loercher both broke the individual scoring record, being the only men in DePauw's history to score more than 300 points in one year. Schrier, a freshman forward, ended up with 321 points and Loercher in his final year tallied 310. In addition, Loercher was named on the all-ICC first team, as he was among the league leaders in all scoring departments. The team also set a new record by scoring 1,545 points in 20 games for a 77.25 average. Filling out DePauw's high-scoring first team were forward John Peters and guards Dick Tinkham and Ron McCammack.

In its inaugural game of the 1953-54 season, DePauw put off a last minute St. Joseph rally to win its first ICC contest, 68-64, in a game where the lead changed 19 times. Loercher with 17 points captured scoring honors. In the Evansville contest, the Tigers hit 30 out of 65 field goals for a torrid .461 percentage to down the eventual ICC co-champs, 81-62. McCammack, Loercher, and Schrier scored at will in the second half to put DePauw out of reach.

Ball State became DePauw's third straight ICC victim by an 82-72 score as Loercher continued burning the nets for 25 points. But it took McCammack's 11 in the final quarter to climax a DePauw rally that started with the Tiger six points down at the beginning of the last period. DePauw's first road game was also its first loss of the season as Indiana State won, 71-66. The Sycamores pulled away in the final quarter to break the game wide open. McCammack and Loercher were high men for DePauw with 17 each.

Before a partisan Wabash crowd, the Tigers gained revenge for the football humiliation by turning back the Cavemen, 68-59. Behind 32-23 at the half, DePauw's high scoring trio of Loercher, McCammack and Schrier started hitting the nets to tie the game at 39-39 and take a 45-43 lead at the end of the third quarter. Wabash remained rattled, and the Tigers increased their lead to nine points.

Against Valparaiso the Tigers suffered their second loss, 84-81, in spite of Loercher's scoring 33 counters, as the Crusaders hit their peak in the fourth quarter. In another road game, the Tigers squeezed past Hope by the narrow margin of 83-80. DePauw built up a 16 point margin early in the final period, but Hope came back strong as the Tigers began to stall. Schrier tallied 23 markers and Loercher had 11 before spraining his ankle.

Next, DePauw succumbed to St. Joseph, 86-78, despite a 47-37 lead midway in the third quarter. In the closing minutes the Tigers made nine points in a row to cut St. Joe's lead to 79-78, but the Pumas iced the game with five straight free throws. Schrier led DePauw with 26 points. Against Indiana State in a rough game in which 58 fouls were called, Schrier and McCammack led the Tigers to a 67-57 victory. The Bengals were never behind and led at half, 33-19.

Still playing without Loercher, DePauw journeyed to "Naptown" to meet the Butler Bulldogs. Although they were ahead 21-13 at the end of one period, the Gold and Black ran into a 26 point second quarter for Butler and eventually were defeated, 74-64. In the following game against Hanover, DePauw managed to hit for 48 points in the second half to whip the Panthers, 82-72. Schrier continued pacing the Bengals with 27 markers.

Losing to Illinois Wesleyan, 93-77, in the worst defeat of the year, DePauw found Neeman, Bergeran, and Conlee too much to handle as the trio scored 77 points between them. Loercher, back in the lineup, scored 21. In a return match with Evansville a different lineup from the one earlier in the season faced DePauw, and as a result the Tigers went down 83-72. In handing Depauw its fifth ICC loss, the Aces pulled away from a 47-47 deadlock and never relinquished the lead again.

In the complete rout of previously once-beaten Albion, 96-78, the team home scoring record was tied. Loercher poured through 22 tallies, Peters, 18, and Schrier, 17. DePauw dropped its sixth conference game, 98-87, as Ball State scored the most points ever scored against a Tiger team. Loercher set an ICC record by getting 23 of DePauw's 59 rebounds, while Schrier topped DePauw scorers with 25. Lake Forest became the first team to win at Bowman this year by the narrowest of margins, 77-76. A late DePauw rally after a meager 8-point first quarter failed to net results in the closing seconds.

With an 83-73 victory, the Tigers got sweet revenge for an earlier loss to Butler with Loercher hitting for 28 and Peters for 15. From the opening minutes the Bengals were ahead, increasing their margin to 46-31 at halftime. Although the Tigers were defeated by Hanover, 89-86, a new individual scoring record was set as Schrier added 22 points to his total to break Kent Guild's record of 290 points. It was a close game with Hanover breaking a 79-79 tie to go ahead to stay.

For the first year since 1949 DePauw took both games from Wabash, this time by an 89-76 score. Spurred on by McCammack's 26 tallies, the Tigers could never be headed after overcoming a 21-20 lead. In losing the season's finale to Valparaiso, 66-60, the Tigers fell behind 57-55 with four minutes to go and could not regain the lead in spite of Pierce's 15 points, tops for the Bengals.

Cinderella Team Ran to Little State Triumph

With the Little State Championship and the narrow win over the University of Chicago furnishing the only bright spots of the season, DePauw's 1953 track team posted a poor record of one win and four losses. Weak in the field events, plagued by injuries and bad weather, the Tigers failed to live up to their potential throughout the regular season. Some of the meets were close, others were not. But Little State remains as a high point of glory which those who watched it or ran in it will never forget.

Butler's Bulldogs provided the opening competition for DePauw, and the Tiger tracksters caught the first indication of what lay ahead of them as they watched the loss of all field events save the high jump. It was Butler all the way, and DePauw left behind them a 79½-49½ loss. Ball State proved no better company as they smashed the Old Gold by a 75-47 score.

Wabash's mile relay team turned in the fastest time of the season for Indiana's small colleges as they won the meet's final event and gave the Cavemen the necessary points to slip by DePauw, 64 1/10 - 59 9/10. It was the third straight loss for the Tigers, who won every running event except the two-mile and the fatal mile relay but were able to salvage only ties in the high jump and pole vault for the field events.

Dick Nowling threw the javelin for the first time against Chicago and won for DePauw, giving the Tigers the necessary points that enabled them to defeat the Maroons, 66-65. Winning only seven firsts in the fifteen events, DePauw showed its strength by taking enough second and third places to gain the win.

The 51st annual Little State track meet was run in a slow drizzle of rain that put the track almost completely under water. Butler and Ball State, the co-favorites, fell to second and third as DePauw surprised the field of eleven schools by collecting 51 points and its fourteenth Little State title since 1903. It was the first DePauw championship in ten years. Butler scored 43 points, while Ball State and Wabash tied with 41 points each. All three teams had beaten the Tigers previously.

Once again it was the mile relay that decided the meet, as Lennie Yorke, Gerry Herrmann, Jim Dailey, and Jim Hollensteiner came home out front in the mud to edge Ball State and put Butler out of the way. Hollensteiner, the outstanding performer of the day, also won the 220 and 440-yard dashes. Dick Tinkham scored DePauw's other first with a win in the half-mile. Other DePauw point winners were Jim Dudley, Joe Vaughn, Dick Krueger, Art Bryant, Don Archer, and Dick Hansen. Yorke, Herrmann, and Dailey all followed Hollensteiner's example as they scored points elsewhere to help the Tiger cause. It was an outstanding team triumph that produced DePauw's biggest athletic surprise of 1953.

DePauw's baseball team compiled a .500 average, winning six games and losing six. A tie with Butler and five rained-out contests accounted for the rest of the eighteen-game schedule. For a team that got some excellent pitching, batted only .252, and sometimes fell apart defensively, it was an average record. The team failed to take the close ones, losing four games by one or two runs.

Al Phillips pitched and batted DePauw to a 10-5 win over Valparaiso to open the season. The Tigers stole eight bases, while six Valpo errors contributed to the cause. The blunders were on the DePauw side in the next game, however, when costly errors enabled Ball State to set down DePauw, 6-4.

Phillips came back against Purdue and threw a four-hitter, but three Boilermaker pitchers shut out DePauw with two infield hits to take a 2-0 win.

Tom Grant spaced six Hanover hits well and DePauw shelled four Panther pitchers for a 9-3 triumph. The Tigers added eleven stolen bases to Mickey Pharr pitched in relief against Indiana State on successive days and gained the credit for both wins. Keats doubled Pharr home in the eleventh inning to win the first game, 5-4. The second game found him coming in again, this time in the third inning, and allowing one run the rest of the way while his teammates were pounding Sycamore pitching for a 10-6 victory. A few days later, three Butler picthers allowed the Tigers only three hits in a 6-0 shutout enlivened by DePauw errors.

Stephens' ninth-inning single scored Pierce and gave DePauw the run it needed for a 6-5 win over highly-ranked Miami. It was Pharr to the rescue once more as he gained his third straight win in relief. After a rain-shortened 3-3 tie with Butler in a return game at home, the Tigers lost a doubleheader to Wabash by scores of 11-0 and 8-7. Eleven first-game De-

Pauw errors set a new season high, while Stephens' home run, the only DePauw home run of the season, was the second game's bright spot.

Only a two-out bunt in the eighth inning marred Phillips' game as he pitched a one-hit, 9-0 win against Ball State. Phillips faced only 31 men, while his mates were picking up thirteen hits of their own. DePauw ended their season by losing to Indiana, 9-8, as nine Tiger errors threw away a 7-0 DePauw lead.

Pacing the team in hitting was Naus with a .375 average, followed by Pierce at .314. Naus also led in hits, doubles, and RBI's. Phillips was the workhorse of the pitching staff, working in eight games and compiling a 2-2 record. But it was Pharr with his clutch relief pitching who saved several DePauw victories.

Tom Grant, Con Olson, and Al Phillips were Stebbins' starting pitchers. Phillips pitched four complete games.

Netters Won Fourth Straight Little State Crown

For the fourth time in a row, spectators at the Indiana Little State Tennis Meet saw DePauw smash through all opponents to pick up 56 points and the Little State title. In the first flight, Bill Pendl won first place; in the second flight, Jim Manschot took second honors; Ron Liechty and Pete Trees won second places in the third and fourth flights respectively, and Al Burkhalter copped number one honors in the fifth flight for DePauw. The Burkhalter-Trees combination captured second place in the second flight of the doubles competition.

Of twelve matches in regular season play, DePauw's netters won eight and lost four, scoring victories over their first six opponents. After dropping the next three in a row to Miami, Indiana University, and Purdue, DePauw defeated Wabash 9-0 for the second time, came out ahead over Eastern Illinois in a rain-shortened 5-0 match, then lost to Washington by five points, 7-2, to wind up the schedule.

Five lettermen of the 1952 tennis team returned to form the bulk of the squad. Pendl, the number one man, led the way for the Tigers throughout the season, ending with Little State victory. Manschot, number two man, and Leichty, in the number three spot, continued as varsity players with excellent performances. Trees, a freshman and the lone newcomer to the squad, worked in the number four position, with Burkhalter right behind as number five. Yoshida, Cochran Sparked Nators' 6-2 Record

Led by Captain John Walker, Noble Yoshida, Bob Lang, and Ben Cochran, the 1954 DePauw swimming team ran up a 6-2 record plus a second place in their only triangular meet.

The Tiger crew started out by rolling up five straight wins. In the opener, Yoshida won two individual events and helped the 300-yard medley relay team to victory as DePauw edged out Ball State by a 46-38 score.

After defeating Wittenberg, 49-35, DePauw won meets in successive days over Berea and Louisville. Paced by Cochran, who won two events in both meets, the Tigers smacked down Berea, 55-29, and then slipped by Louisville, 44-40, as the 400-yard relay team won the meet's final race. Wittenberg fell once more, this time 45-39, and again the Tigers took the final relay for the winning margin.

Washington University of St. Louis gave DePauw its first loss, taking home two new pool records and an easy 52-32 win. Yoshida in the backstroke won the only race for DePauw and set the third pool record of the day.

DePauw suffered its second loss of the week, this time to Albion, 46-38, although Yoshida broke his own backstroke record again. The schedule of dual meets ended as the Tigers smashed Ball State in a return meet, 52-32.

Despite the loss of both Walker and Lang due to illness, DePauw placed second in a three-way meet at St Louis with 48 points, behind Washington's 73 and ahead of Bradley's 33. Yoshida, undefeated for the season in the backstroke, won his event for DePauw's only first.

Walker, Lang, and Yoshida were dependable point-getters. Yoshida set the backstroke record for DePauw's pool.

Rosenow Set Record in Harriers' 5-1 Season

Brown, Hershberger, Yott, Totman, and Herrmann limber up before starting their daily 4-mile jaunt. The cross-country squad had the best record of any DePauw varsity team, winning 5 and losing 1.

Led by Captain Jack Rosenow, the 1953 DePauw cross-country team ran up a regular season record of five wins and one loss and took third place in the ICC and Little State Meet. Ball State proved the Old Gold's nemesis as they provided the only DePauw defeat of the season with a 21-36 beating one rainy afternoon at Muncie, and then did it again to blast DePauw's Little State hopes.

Indiana Central's Greyhounds fell more easily than expected—Wabash provided little competition in the next two meets as the Tigers won two more, the second a 15-40 smash.

DePauw took its fourth win by edging past Butler by a single point, 29-30. After the Ball State loss, the Tigers ended the season with a 21-40 beating of Valparaiso, as Rosenow set a new school record of 18:42.4 for the 3 1/3 mile course.

SAILING CLUB

Sailing Club was at the bow in several fall regattas, placing third in the Washington Quadrangle, fifth at Michigan State, and sixth at the Michigan Elimination. Chalk talks, regatta movies, barbeques at Cagle's Mill, and several spring regattas rounded out the year. The club hopes for its own crafts and facilities in the near future.

RIFLE CLUB

An organization that never holds business meetings, the Rifle Club shot its way through a very successful year. Besides defeating the University of Illinois, the team edged over VMI by one point, among other victories. From the Rifle Club is selected DePauw's Rifle Team, which consists of each week's ten high scorers.

I-M basketball is infested with Hoosier spirit as players fight to bring victory to their living groups.

The Intramural Board is composed of one member from each men's living group. With four major sports and five minor ones included in the year's program, plus the awarding of the I-M trophy, the Varsity trophy, and the Winkler sportsmanship award, the meetings were constant. The arranging of leagues, the scheduling and re-scheduling, the keeping of the multitudinous records of games and players, and the choice of All-Star teams also kept the board, the two I-M managers, and director Jack Morton busy.

Playing a fourteen-game schedule, IM basketball squads worked almost as hard as the varsity, but long hours of practice paid off for the winners.

Girls' basketball frequently enables the fairer sex to demonstrate their physical prowess as they struggle for possession of the ball.

Bowling, a longtime recreational favorite, has recently become a popular segment of the diversified IM program for both fellows and girls.

Volleyball teams require men of varied capabilities since spikers and set-up men must perform together skillfully in hopes of a winning season.

Kappa Tau Kappa Took an Interest in Real Estate

KTK devoted precious time considering the possibilities coordinant with a large track of land west of Blackstock. How this sudden interest in real estate fits into the ultimate scheme of interfraternity relationships is questionable but since this area may some day sprout golf greens and unlighted picnic areas, DePauw can't begrudge KTK's efforts.

In an all-campus work week under the KTK whip, churches were renovated, stables were torn down constructively, Putnam Hospital was saved $1000 on maintenance, and pledges were rescued rom the ignomy of hazing. Supper exchanges, discussion groups, and an evening all-male sing rounded out the Greek Week.

Even more conventional KTK activities had the Crimson Coats keeping an eye and greedy palm out for rushing rule infractions, judging legs, staging a "Grecian Temple" fall formal.

Pan-Hel Partied through the Rigors of Rush

The ladies in green reinforced their traditional neutrality this year by deserting their respective houses during formal rush week and moving into the home management house. Completely withdrawn from their own sororities, the council was better able to create a panhellenic feeling and to give more constructive help to freshmen through the confusion of rush. Pan-hel began immediately to plan for their Halloween dance, "Midnight Masque," the success of which made it possible for the council to award four $150 scholarships. In addition to guiding open and spring rush, the group participated in Greek Week by sponsoring sorority exchanges and conducting a town survey for the Greencastle Chamber of Commerce. In addition to these innovations, Panhellenic Council continued their usual dinner meetings and workshops throughout the year.

This year's Student Senate officials display the latest thing in Wednesday attire—blue jackets.

Student Senate struggled for sovereignty and succeeded. To show second year strength, Senate aired DePauw's problems at a Union Building leadership conference and laid limits on overly active inhabitants, requesting that no one take the presidency of WRA, the Union Board, and editorship of the DePauw simultaneously.

Despite outward manifestations of growing pains, the Blue Blazers sponsored events which have become the bread and butter of DePauw life. They encouraged flow of new blood into the university system by organizing the Rector-MacMahon-President's Scholarship weekend, indoctrinated new scholars by executing Orientation Week, and kept them happy and busy with the Junior-Senior Prom, university committee appointments, and the "D" Association banquet. Alumni felt the long arm of Senate coordination on Old Gold Day.

U.B. ELECTIONS
VOTE TUESDAY
THE HUB

Dick Louttit and Jim Rowlett cheerfully look forward to the voting-in of the new regime.

The Union Building, a functioning DePauw unit for just three years, has become in all senses of the word—the hub. Rare is the DePauw student who does not have reason to visit some corner of the UB every week. The Hub is headquarters for socializers where coffee and bridge reign supreme. Future radio stars receive training on the third floor where WGRE lights blink ON THE AIR. Activities that interest a varied group of people hold meetings in every available room.

If a student has escaped all these attractions, he will no doubt succumb to a general UB sponsored activity such as a Friday night movie, a Sunday night party in the Hub, a pop concert, the book exchange, or one of the receptions or dances. All these activities render it impossible to miss the campus' busiest spot—the Union.

Freshmen to Seniors . . . All Participated in AWS

The president and her veeps take time out from the problems of all women students for some discussion of their own.

The Association of Women Students, in which all DePauw women can claim membership, plays an important part in a coed's life. The summer before she enters DePauw, the freshman girl receives letters from her AWS Big Sister. Greeting her at the dorm is her AWS dorm counselor who is a part of an extensive counseling program. She is soon acquainted with rules, formed in AWS Senate. In the fall, our heroine cheers her dorm on at AWS-KTK Field Day. Later, AWS provides her with a once-in-a-year chance to squire the man of her choice to Golddigger's. As she progresses from freshman to upperclassman, she works on AWS committees, becomes a dorm counselor, or a personnel chairman on Senate. Her evaluation is complete when, as a senior, she attends an AWS sponsored dinner for a last reunion with her freshman dorm mates.

A new innovation in DePauw's social world was the collaboration of WRA (formally known as Women's Recreation Association) and the D Association in sponsoring a co-ed sports carnival featuring badminton, swimming, and other sports, plus dancing, for all DePauw students. These sports nights were held twice during the year.

WRA also played hostess to the state meeting of the Athletic Federation of College Women in March. About sixty athletically inclined women from Indiana attended the convention and participated in a play day, luncheon, and workshops. WRA planned everything from the fall walkout, introducing freshman women to WRA, to their annual dance in April.

Sandwiched between these events were sports days, the individual and intramural sports competition, and initiation. Even the "active" members of the group had a hard time keeping up with such a busy schedule.

A pleasureable job it must be to schedule time for women to play.

The Young Women's Christian Association, directed by fourteen committee heads, and a cabinet of five senior officers, again sponsored the annual World Student Service Fund Carnival at which the Turtle Derby was a big attraction. The YWCA capitalizes in diversity at DePauw, sponsoring Saturday playgrounds for children, visiting the sick in nursing homes, and planning vesper programs before vacations. But no organization is complete without a committee to raise funds. YW's Moneymakers sold crested sweatshirts, mums, and Christmas paper in order to keep the local group in financial health. YWCA is growing with new ideas every year to keep it young. This year the organization gave a $75 scholarship second semester to a person interested in some phase of religious work. YWCA is expanding and growing into an integral part of student life on the DePauw campus.

Religious Life Council Coordinated Church Groups

Serving in its usual capacity of coordinating the dozen religious groups on campus, the Council on Religious Life sponsored monthly joint meetings in an effort to create unity and understanding among those interested in the religious phase of DePauw. As in previous years, the Council sparked Religious Evaluation Week, bringing Dr. Charles S. Kendall to campus. Dr. Kendall, hailing from Phoenix, Arizona, brought Christianity effectively to the student level through practical application of its tenents to everyday living. The Council also aided in the orientation of new students through the sending of booklets during the summer months outlining the scope of religion at DePauw and also in setting up an orientation program which introduced new students to their respective denominational groups. Last of all, the Council laid plans for the support of scholarships for Japan International Christian University.

SPEX

Beginning with a new constitution, Spex men provided a backbone of spirit for campus rooters. At the pre-Wabash rally these sophomore men awarded the best poster trophy to the Pi Phis. Spex originated the Little Pepper Gang and continued chalking sidewalks, making posters and issuing schedules to reinforce the heightened interest of fans all year.

FRESHMAN INTERFRATERNITY COUNCIL

Members of the F.I.C. made their existence known by sponsoring a square dance mixer for all freshmen. Giving way to rebellious ideas, they instigated the traditional pot-burning ceremony in defiance of domineering upperclassmen. Realizing the futility of such actions, however, they returned to their social pursuits, planning a mass exchange with women's dorms and weekly smokers among fraternity pledge classes.

Mirage Staff Lamented Lack

The Big Brass—Brecht, Schwartz, and Lauter—relax like true executives.

Check one:

Working for the MIRAGE is (a) an activity (b) a full-time job (c) a major field of study (d) chaotic (e) all of these.

(A) The MIRAGE certainly is an activity, even though its staff members wear no special jackets. It has executives, meetings, and even a reason for existence—publication of the yearbook.

(B) Anyone on the staff will testify that the MIRAGE is a full-time employer. Odd hours during the day, Saturdays, and all-night sessions before deadlines—the MIRAGE monopolizes a student's time.

(C) The university stubbornly refuses to award a major in "Mirage"; nevertheless, many a DePauw student has graduated knowing more about writing cut lines and trimming pictures than about defense mechanisms and iambic pentameter.

(D) MIRAGE is synonymous with "Chaos." Fifty pictures taken last spring completely vanished. Furthermore, the photographers took pictures of the admissions staff six different times; and, still unable to produce a satisfactory negative, they surrendered and used last year's print.

Correct answer: (E) all of the above.

Critics and Crusades Kept

"See all evil, hear all evil, tell all evil" was The DEPAUW'S slogan.

Every issue of THE DePAUW has 1900 critics.

But disappointed campus critics found little to ridicule this year other than the usual, sometimes humorous, sometimes libelous, mechanical errors. There was material for controversy, however.

For, while "printing all the news that could fit" and spotting most mistakes before they were multiplied 1900 times by the BANNER press, the editors initiated an "Improve DePauw" campaign.

Editorial crusading having been absent from the student sounding board lo these many years, it shocked some to find fires being set under such "untouchables" as Student Senate, faculty, and athletic policy. Whether the news-fed flames molded DePauw into a better school is a question with 1900 different answers.

But the publication did continue serving as the university's "School of Journalism." Underclassmen learned the basic principles of news writing from those in the 300-400 courses of news editing and typesetting. Moreover, the entire staff learned, by making mistakes, it's true, but by publishing a tri-weekly four pager so newsworthy that its arrival interrupted many a bridge game—temporarily.

Hoot Continued to Exploit

The photographer caught the HOOT editor and business manager busily at work.

Well, HOOT had been around for a year. He had taken all the campus could hand out; but returned to his willowy, painted perch for another year.

He looked around one day and found his office a little bit cleaner and a wee bit emptier; but he concluded that it only took about five people to do a job with him, given, of course, at least three or four all night sessions.

HOOT leafed casually through a few copies of SHAFT and wondered if he was doing his utmost for the campus. Yet, he decided that he did the best that could be done on an iron curtain campus. Then, too, there would always be The Fox if things got too sanctimonious in his environs.

He would have the usual trouble masking what he had to say; and money was always a problem for such a fast liver in times of inflation. Yet, DPU was always buzzing with a good rumor to spread. It was trite and sometimes uninteresting; but he could take it. There were always the parties at Crow's Bridge.

Pub Board Had Last Word in Student Publications

Mirage Business Manager John Lauter and Dr. Forst Fuller, financial advisor, discuss the yearbook's budget problems.

The Publications Board, or more formally, the Board of Control of Student Publications, has made its special task this year to revise its manual.

In this small handbook are rules for the guidance of all three university publications, THE DePAUW, THE MIRAGE, and HOOT. As stated in the manual, the board of "six faculty and six student members" has the last word in both the troublesome and routine problems of the publication of the publications.

More specifically, the manual states who may hold staff positions. The board also determines the aims of the student publications and makes suggestions for ways in which each may give training in leadership, salesmanship, and managing finances. Advice about content, layout, planning, and managing is offered to help the editors of DePauw's newspaper, magazine, and annual.

Traveling Choir Helped Spread the DePauw Spirit

Members of the DePauw University Choir packed their robes and left the ivy walls of their alma mater during spring vacation for a tour of the East, making appearances in Cleveland, Washington, D. C., and New York City. DePauwites were able to join in on a part of the trip via television when the choir sang on Kate Smith's show. Before and after this extended journey the group made several short trips to Bedford, Vincennes, Chicago, French Lick, and Indianapolis, besides singing a great deal at home for university functions. Without an anthem sung by the choir, Wednesday chapels would not have been complete. Under the direction of Professor George Gove, the DePauw choir is one of the most outstanding university choral groups in America. Music of the early church and representative modern works form the basis of the choir's repertoire. A financially self-supporting group, the DePauw choir is vital in university publicity and has contributed greatly to DePauw's reputation.

DePauw's Versatile Band Played Both Indoors and Out

Shadows of the marching band stripe the field at the '53 Old Gold Day game.

DePauw's marching and concert band, after performing during the half time for all at-home football games last fall, came indoors when that season closed to begin their own concert schedule. In December, a Christmas carol program in Meharry Hall followed a concert at Kokomo, Indiana, for the Bandmaster's Club there.

February band music opened the second semester at home. After a time out for rest and practice, the band left in April to give several public and high school programs in southern Indiana. This tour took one weekend—five concerts given daily. When warm weather returned in May, those within hearing distance of the women's quad again enjoyed a series of three outdoor musicales, each directed by a senior or junior music education student. Commencement weekend completed the year for this versatile group.

Symphony Orchestra Had a Crowded Calendar

Early in the year, Dorothy Munger, who had been concertizing throughout the East all Fall, and who is associated with the Indianapolis Symphony Orchestra, gave Grieg's piano concerto, assisted by the DePauw Symphony Orchestra, in honor of Steinway's one hundredth anniversary. Two other formal concerts, along with two "pop" concerts, a children's concert, and a chapel program also were included among the programs given this year by the DePauw music group. Robert Grocock, a member of the university music staff, was trumpet soloist at the second formal concert when he soloed in Addison's concerto for trumpet and orchestra. At that time, the group also gave Dvorak's Fourth Symphony. The orchestra, under the baton of its conductor, Herman Berg, and its student director, Wes Tower, added another season of musical achievement to its calendar, a calendar which recorded the DePauw Orchestra as being the second oldest of its kind in America.

"Where or When" ... Collegians Found the Answer

Another chapter in the Collegians' music portfolio of successful seasons drew to an end as the singing group took a tour to Chicago. The group sang at the Thornton Township High School and for the Chicago Rotarians. Their theme song, "Where or When," filled Meharry Hall April 7 when they presented a chapel program for the campus. They also added their special touch to faculty banquets and a UB party. A trip to Lafayette to sing for an assembly, and a spot on the program of the opening of the IBM plant kept the Collegians singing all spring.

"The Elixir of Love" is about to get under way as the occupants of the orchestra pit await a cue from the conductor to strike their first note.

This year Motet took part in a few of the programs of "Faith For Today," Dr. Humbert's weekly radio broadcast from Indianapolis. In doing this, the singing group broadcasted directly, as well as making several recordings of church music. Selections by Motet were also included in some of the year's chapel programs in Gobin church. For other events on the musical calendar, the group combined talents with the University Choir at various times throughout the year.

Debate . . .

Varsity speakers traveled over the midwest successfully trying their skill against speakers from universities throughout the nation. At Bradley University, with fifty-two schools represented, the squad placed second in debate. DePauw participated in the powerful Iowa Conference for the first time; the squad placed second in debate and Jim Briggs won first in oratory. Other tournament competition included Wisconsin, Eastern Illinois, and the traditional triangle debate between DePauw, Wabash, and Earlham. During the season, DePauw speakers won individual honors in debate, discussion, oratory, and extemporaneous speaking. Novice debaters started the season by winning at Butler and participating successfully in tournaments at Navy Pier, Chicago, and Purdue.

Clark Wagner uses gestures to stress a point as he speaks for the varsity debaters.

There is always that last minute rush as the make-up crew hastily applies mascara and rouge before curtain finally goes up.

The Curtain Went Up on Four Little Theater Plays

"Break a leg!", Speech Hall opening night parlez-vous, sent performers on stage as the curtain rose on the first production of the year, "Angel Street."

Shaw's "The Devil's Disciple"—chivalry was not dead even in the time of Revolution—and Shakespeare's "Much Ado About Nothing," followed. "The Barretts of Wimpole Street," a fabled romance of Elizabeth and Robert Browning, entertained the mothers on May Day.

And backstage, a prayer was offered after each performance to Century for their installation of the new lighting panel which eliminated the 50-50 hazard of former lighting operations.

"Rotsy" is a big thing! In addition to reviews on Dad's and Mother's Days, activities of the 235th Wing AFROTC include a newspaper, a band, a drill team, and rifle and basketball teams. ROTC provides a program for girls, too; for each year at the Military Ball an Honorary Cadet Colonel is crowned.

NAIAD

Proving that swimming can be as graceful as dance, members of Naiad spent the first semester diligently learning intricate stroke patterns and stunts. The spring semester was one of concentrated practice for the gay circus program presented on Scholarship Weekend and Mother's Day. The water nymphs also entertained faculty and students with their clowns, lions, and jugglers.

ORCHESIS

The word dance to most students means a formal affair and is synonomous with a good time. But to thirty exceptions the word means Orchesis, women's dance honorary, and symbolizes hours spent in writing choreography and rehearsing. Besides their fall concert, Orchesis participated in the March pop concert and performed on May Day.

After March Chapel 28 Seniors Wore Phi Beta Kappa Keys

Five months after the signing of the Declaration of Independence, Phi Beta Kappa was founded at the College of William and Mary. Originally bearing the ear-marks of the present day social fraternities, Phi Beta Kappa expanded to Yale, Harvard, and Dartmouth in its early years. In 1831, influenced by a nation-wide agitation against secret societies, the Harvard chapter voluntarily disclosed its secrets. From that time on Phi Beta Kappa has been an honorary society in which membership is obtained through distinguished scholarship.

And on Her Back She Wore a Bright Red Jacket

Each year at the May Day breakfast, a few junior women are chosen for membership to one of the top honorary organizations on campus—Mortar Board. By mixing top grades and honors in activities, these women are privileged to wear the red jackets and balance the black caps as symbols of their "leadership, scholarship, and personality." The big project of this organization is earning money for a scholarship which is awarded each year to a deserving DePauw woman student. Mortar Board's various activities, with money as their object, are selling balloons on Old Gold Day, the annual late hours contest, and participation in the WSSF carnival.

Gold Key Functioned as a Businessmen's Club

Weighty issues such as "who to tap" occupy the attention of these active intellectuals at the monthly Gold Key banquet.

Outstanding leadership qualities in activities, organizations, and scholarship are membership qualifications for Gold Key. Undergraduates who are tapped every spring to perpetuate this group have the privilege of carrying the hickory cane in recognition of their achievements. Instead of taking on projects, the club has more the aspects of a businessmen's club—where active and busy men can get together and relax. At monthly dinner meetings, discussions of current campus affairs or problems are enjoyed, not only by the seniors, but also by the faculty contingent, which numbers sixteen. The organization gives men with similar interests and abilities an opportunity to exchange views.

PHI ETA SIGMA

Eighteen men became eligible for Phi Eta Sigma this year by capturing that elusive 2.5 grade average. Besides persistently raising curves in all their classes, the members of the organization co-operated with Alpha Lambda Delta in assisting the University with its overflow crowd of guests on Scholarship Weekend.

ALPHA LAMBDA DELTA

This year Alpha Lambda Delta, the cream of DePauw's scholastic crop, initiated fifteen women. Among other responsibilities, Alpha Lam members served at the President's tea in the fall and acted as guides for the scholarship weekend guests. Contributing to the social life of the honorary was the yearly spring banquet held with Phi Eta Sigma.

SIGMA DELTA CHI

Forty-five years ago, two DePauw men founded SDX. In 1954 a more heterogenous group of journalists proved their prolonged struggle for existence worthwhile. Staging a musical that captured campus imagination, editing a magazine of questionable literary quality and a paper of high popularity, and co-sponsoring Gridiron enabled Alpha to place fifth in national efficiency ratings at the St. Louis convention.

ALPHA DELTA SIGMA

Characteristic of the activities of ADS, national advertising honorary, were such things as bringing George Lewis's jazz band to DePauw, sponsoring WGRE's broadcast of the Indiana State basketball game, and directing publicity for Monon. In addition ADS and SDX, temporarily burying their hatchets, despite their annual football battle, collaborated to produce this year's Gridiron Banquet.

TUSITALA

Tusitala, DePauw's second oldest honorary, maintained its uniqueness by being the one campus activity without activities. The creative writing group did attempt to engender literary ingenuity among students by sponsoring its golden anniversary membership contest. Furthering of creative talents was also the topic of discussion at the annual Tusitala banquet at the Duck.

AMERICAN GUILD OF ORGANISTS

The American Guild of Organists began the year with a tea for DePauw organ students. On All Saints Day, the Guild sponsored a trip to St. Muniad's Abbey to study the music of the Pontifical High Mass. As a final project, the group journeyed to the Columbus Christian Church to see one of the country's best organs. Student performances filled in the year's program.

PHI MU ALPHA

Outstanding among the activities of DePauw's chapter of Phi Mu Alpha, men's national honorary of music, was the musical program staged at the state convention. On campus, the honor musicians combined with Mu Phi Epsilon, their female counterpart, in Yuletide caroling and added a new twist by helping them redecorate the women's lounge in the music building.

MU PHI EPSILON

DePauw's chapter of Mu Phi Epsilon, national professional music honorary, had the privilege of entertaining their national president this year. All the Mu Phis presented a recital and held a banquet in her honor. The women musicians, selected on the basis of high scholarship, also redecorated the Music School lounge and ushered for University concerts.

KAPPA PI

'Twas the night before Christmas and all through the Hub—were illustrations from the familiar "Visit from Saint Nicholas," Kappa Pi's promise that vacation would come very soon. This display and other artistic diversions, such as an art movie program, the Putnam County Amateur Show, and the Mother's Day auction, increased DePauw's art-consciousness.

DUZER DU

Duzer Du, DePauw's dramatic honorary, recognizes students with exceptional dramatic ability. Something new this year, these future Barrymores and Bernhardts did a reading of "The Glass Menagerie," similar in style to Charles Laughton's production of "John Brown's Body." Besides producing the commencement play, Duzer Du entertained several Sunday nights in the Hub.

DELTA SIGMA RHO

Delta Sigma Rho once again sponsored its annual collegiate debate tournament at DePauw with twenty-eight schools represented. Members of the national forensic fraternity left this spring for the midwest regional conference in Detroit. The conference, an annual affair, takes the form of a legislative session, with discussions and speeches typical of a lawmaking body filling the program.

PI SIGMA ALPHA

Pi Sigma Alpha is the national political science honorary. Junior political science majors of high academic standing are chosen for the organization at one of the spring chapels. At their meetings they hold discussions on current campus problems which may or may not encompass their fields in the study of law and political science.

BETA BETA BETA

Beta Beta Beta, national zoology honorary, met jointly with the bacteriology department this year to hear an address by the Director of the State Board of Health. Eliot Williams from Wabash spoke at initiation, and a picnic for all members, old and new, contributed to the spring activities.

DELTA OMICRON CHI

DOX, the future medics of tomorrow, educated its members for their professions by showing surgical films at the monthly Thursday meetings. A specialty this year was a trip through the Indianapolis Medical Center shortly before semester vacation, while a non-educational spring picnic climaxed the season's actiivites.

ARNOLD AIR SOCIETY

The Arnold Air Society, national honorary of the Air Force ROTC program, functions much the same as an honorary fraternity. Members, from the senior class, are recognizable by their gold and blue shoulder cords. One of their more enjoyable projects is selecting the queen for the annual Military Ball who reigns at all detachment reviews.

TOYNBEE

Sociology majors explore future job possibilities by preparing informative booklets, listening to outside speakers, and planning aid programs, such as their Easter project for underprivileged children. Research was a picnic for Toynbee, at least it was in May when faculty and students had an informal outdoor session. Informal initiation closed the planning year in April.

DELTA PHI ETA

Members of Delta Phi Eta, Girl Scout honorary, have an opportunity for experience in scouting leadership by assisting Greencastle Girl Scout leaders with their weekly meetings. Their work with the Greencastle children consisted of trail blazing at Fern Cliffs, the annual Christmas party for underprivileged children, and as a climax, a week-end camping trip.

ALPHA PHI OMEGA

Alpha Phi Omega, national service fraternity, opened the year traditionally by carrying luggage for newly-arrived freshmen women. This spirit of assistance was continued as the group solicited funds for the Community Chest and March of Dimes campaigns, jointly sponsored a Christmas party for Greencastle children, and increased Red Cross funds with proceeds from the Ugly Man Contest.

As new Vicar of St. Andrews Church, the Reverend Harlan took Father Hyndman's position as mainstay of the club in March, while all members waited to welcome the new Vicar.

WESTMINSTER FELLOWSHIP

Westminster Fellowship, Presbyterian youth, ventured into Caveman territory for some missionary work by helping Wabash Presbyterians establish their own W.F. A high spot was putting Dr. Bieber, Dr. Carrell, Reverend Harvey, and Mr. Saunder on the "Hot Spot" in a panel discussion. The Presbyterian preference banquet, hayride, and Christmas caroling added spice to their program.

NEWMAN CLUB

Newman club added weekly discussions of social problems to their program. Other special features included talks on Roman Catholicism in other countries by foreign students, and an annual Christmas party. Spring brought the yearly retreat to Indianapolis. Completing the year were choir singing, out-of-town speakers, and communion breakfasts.

HOME ECONOMICS CLUB

In order to give domestic-minded coeds a better knowledge of their future profession, DePauw's Home Ec Club sponsored a Home Economics Career Day. Gaily wrapped fruit cakes were sold to raise money for scholarships, seamstresses displayed their talents in the annual fashion show, and monthly meetings provided for an active season.

JACKSON CLUB

After giving Senator Joe McCarthy a verbal tongue-lashing, the young Democrats, alias the Jackson Club, settled down to other matters including a debate with the Republicans and a talk by Jack Mankin, biennial Democratic candidate for Congress. This year's highlight was the club's resistance to being co-ordinated with the Young Republicans by Student Senate.

YOUNG REPUBLICANS CLUB

Knowing their party is safely in power, the Young Republicans spent this year in trying to set up the undecided student body to vote Republican in the next election. Members listened to discussions led by speakers from State Headquarters and a talk by Dr. Harry Voltmer.

INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS CLUB

By now, I.R.C. feels qualified to be its own Communist Information Center after hearing foreign student panels and visiting speakers discuss "Communism in Foreign Countries," "McCarthyism as Viewed from Abroad," and "Communism as We Know It Today." The International Relations Club played host to the Four-State Regional Conference this year.

CAMERA CLUB

The constant snapping of ever-present cameras is a sure indication that DePauw's Camera Club is at work. Included this year were a field trip, slide and portraiture lectures, and the Mathew Brady exhibition. The club's most prized possession is their darkroom in the UB, where the members develop their own films.

FUTURE TEACHERS OF AMERICA

The education field, with its serious lack of teachers, would be encouraged to know that DePauw's F.T.A. membership has increased from fifty to over one hundred members. Besides holding monthly meetings, the future teachers displayed their resourcefulness by salvaging old school desks and combining sandpaper, paint, and elbow grease to transform the heretofore useless objects into reading or telephone tables and even television stands.

BOTANY CLUB

Botany Club became Phi Epsilon Phi by affiliation with the National Botanical Honorary. DePauw botanists discovered ways that nature pays through discussions with Eli Lilly and Armour Companies representatives. Inside information from professors' lectures and slide showings, plus one joint meeting with Tri Beta, left a schedule too tight even to smell flowers.

CHEMISTRY CLUB

The DePauw Chemistry Club is one of nearly 300 student affiliated chapters of the American Chemical Society. DPU's chapter presents lectures and movies for the "hermits of Minshall Lab" and annually visits Indianapolis to tour such chemical plants as the Rock Island Refinery, the Water Works, and the Eli Lilly plant.

PHILOSOPHY CLUB

DePauw philosophers held monthly discussions in which they dealt with such subjects as the philosophies of education, scientific method, and the works of Dr. E. S. Brightman. Members exchanged ideas on all phases of subjects philosophical and heard professors in other fields speak of the relationship of their subject to philosophy.

PSYCHOLOGY CLUB

The Psychology Club is composed of psych students with gregarious motivations. Their social desires were partially fulfilled at a fall picnic attended by both faculty and student members. A trip to the Larue Carter Memorial Mental Hospital in Indianapolis proved highly educational. The year ended with a spring banquet at Old Trail.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION CLUB

Last fall Phys Ed Club members, to help the department, cleaned the fall sports equipment and got out the winter's. Later, members were instructed on methods of establishing high school girls athletic associations. These special meetings, plus offering regular hospitality for off-campus girls on Sports Days, comprised the Physical Education Club calendar.

SHAKESPEARE CLUB

At Shakespeare Club's annual Christmas party, members exchanged razz gifts accompanied with appropriate Shakespearian quotations and sipped traditional cranberry tea. Their spring banquet took the form of a birthday party for old Will on April 26th. The club presented a cutting from one of his plays in honor of the occasion.

Mirage Queens Formed Quintet of Campus Beauties

Dr. Winsey, Dr. Graves, and Noble Bretzman, noted society photographer from Indianapolis, in their capacity as judges occupied orchestra seats at the Mirage Beauty Queen Contest. Galleries were filled with interested spectators. Five beauties from each living unit brightened the Speech Hall stage while the judges spent a pleasurable afternoon of "work." Eliminations evolved from fifteen down to the final five who now reign as 1954 Mirage queens.

With so much beauty concentrated in one place, judging or spectating at the Mirage Queen Contest was a pleasure.

Alpha Chi Omega Greeted Year with New House

HOUSE OFFICERS

A hectic fall in overcrowded living conditions necessitated rushing in the Union Building. However, preference dessert was held in the Phi Psi house, and the DU's generously lent their house for the fall pledge dance, "A Night to Remember."

In December it was out of the slums and onto the Gold Coast when the new house was completed and fifty-six girls moved into spacious living quarters.

Social affairs immediately picked up in volume and intensity with the new house's opening. Serenades and a multitude of exchanges characterized the second semester, besides a series of teas to introduce the housemother, Mrs. Gladys Howard, and the house to students, faculty, and townspeople.

Alpha Duo had the distinction of being the first dance held in the new house, and the year totalled up to a great one in Alpha Chi annals.

The second floor lounge was a good place, both to play bridge, and to work on art programs.

Alpha Gams spend Friday afternoons in the customary fashion, sometimes cleaning, mostly relaxing.

Alpha Gamma Delta Initiated Radio Celebrity

The initiation of famous Florence Rinard during her visit to DePauw with the "Twenty Questions" radio program was just one part of an outstanding year for the Alpha Gams. There was no question in anyone's mind that the pledge dance "Candlelight Carols" was a huge success, as well as the house Christmas tea.

Aside from these special events the girls answered the $64 question "What will we do next?" with the usual bridge games, pledge overnights, senior caroling, and house projects. A few contestants in the house for scholastic honors untiringly fought to concentrate on studies while less study-minded sisters traded Pogo books. The Pogo fans enjoyed themselves immensely and ignored the future consequences of no studying.

Every member of Alpha Gamma Delta agreed that she had certainly hit the jackpot in enjoyable college living this year.

Alpha Omicron Pi Talked Turkey, Raced Turtles

HOUSE OFFICERS

Everybody got into the act this year in the brick house on the corner. Even a turtle was the center of attention for his brief moment of glory as he plodded his way to victory in the WSSF Turtle Derby. A few nights later, attention turned to the pin-girls as the sisters finally succeeded in dunking them all in the showers. At Thanksgiving time, the focus was on the juniors, who climaxed a week of secret gift giving with a costumed turkey and pilgrim party. Twenty-two pledges dressed in white were spotlighted at the black and white Christmas dance, after which a fat Santa added gaiety to the after hours Christmas party. Finally, in the spring, amidst robe hiding, dances, and final exams, the AOPi's grabbed their books and headed for the back yard, where the sun helped finish the year in a blaze of glory.

Everyone worked on Old Gold Day decorations when the AOPi's build a giant colored mammy in their front yard.

As part of their service project, the AOPi's every night helped to feed patients at the Putnam County Hospital.

Alpha Phi Struggled with New Intercom System

A 1954 innovation in the Alpha Phi communication system was the installation of an intercom. Lack of proper "orientation" resulting in bungling of controls caused isolated remarks to drift repeatedly through the first floor speaker: "House Board's coming for lunch, somebody put the golden candlabra back up." . . . "Everybody downstairs for a pep talk on scholarship!" . . . "It's all a matter of personal opinion about the annexes— whether you like food or boys." . . . "Look! I got my catalogue from Michigan today." . . . "But I'm sure we have one copy of Bride's Book in the house." . . . "Princeton, Princeton, rah, rah, rah!" . . . "Just get a block of 40 seats for Monon." . . . "Hope the Painter's Union doesn't discover the great remodeling job the pledges did on the bumroom." . . . "Who knows? In two years we may have two empty GBT hats around here." . . . "UB anyone?"

Why is it the fire drill alarm always goes off when you've just stepped in the shower or crawled into bed?

Delta Gamma's Versatility Showed in Activities

Delta Gamma girls displayed their versatility this year in all areas. In the early fall they won the pie eating contest at AWS-KTK Field Day, taking home a full but victorious senior. As interior decorators the actives proved their merit by transforming the hours into a Winterlude of ice blue and pine green for their 21 pledges. The Delta Gamma National Philanthropic Organization Aid to the Blind will profess the DG's ability in the salesmanship field, since they spent much spare time charming people into buying evening bags and perfume to raise money for this organization. In the spring, exhausted from such a variety of activities, the DG's relaxed in the back yard where the suburban setting provided a perfect place for soaking up a little sun and reminiscing over a good year.

Delta Zeta's Soap Boxes Started a New Trend

Delta Zeta found the varied capabilities of her members invaluable in carrying out the year's activities. During rush, music school students were placed strategically in all slightly melodious skits. With Old Gold Day came a call for house artists to produce decorations that would keep the trophy for the second year—a call that was answered with first place sloganed soap boxes. A delicious Founder's Day breakfast was the contribution of those domestically inclined. Girls handy with a coffee cup and conversation were in demand often—especially for such functions as the annual faculty tea. The pledges, not to be outdone, demonstrated their culinary abilities via a bake sale, raising money for their pledge project. Because of busy schedules, the possessors of one particular talent didn't come into their own till spring. Then with blanket and lotion in hand, they held classes in the back yard on how to relax though in college.

It is always exciting for a sorority to pledge a new member. Here the newest DZ signs the pledge record.

The barbeque pit in the Delta Zeta back yard is a favorite place for spring or fall picnics and weiner roasts.

Kappa Alpha Theta Enjoyed New House Parents

Where's Charlie? This has been a unique year for Kappa Alpha Theta; one characterized by an abundance of house guests. First the lizard with his friend turtle completing the decor of a green room. Momentarily there was Prince, a dignified collie with a mind of his own. Finally, not to mention a speechless parakeet, there arrived the best of all—Charlie. Of the species Homo and genus sapiens, he has many admirable qualities: he blushes charmingly upon entering a crowded dining room seven minutes late; he greets members' two-legged pals with a sympathetic eye and handshake; best of all, his early trainers taught him to repair old record players. Easy to feed (he thrives on coffee), clean and neat (especially in a tux), understanding and quiet, he's NOT for sale because it's so nice to have a man around the house.

Talented roommates in the art of hair cutting make life difficult for Greencastle beauticians.

Theta chaperones this year, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ammerman enjoy a chat with the girls before dinner.

ITEMIZED ACCOUNT OF KAPPA KAPPA GAMMA. DATE: 1953-1954

1. Took stock in twenty pledges. Returns show definite profit.
2. Banked heavily on stuffed pig on Old Gold Day. Went into debt with a third place.
3. Gambled wisely at Kappa Kasino pledge dance. Two chaperones almost deductible.
4. Invested athletic ability in several contests. Collected sufficient dividends in form of trophies.
5. Law of diminishing returns disproved as strong boxes filled with rings and pins, deposited for safe-keeping.
6. Campus must agree with Dun and Bradstreet rating and consider Kappa a top scholarship risk.
7. Opened joint account with Pi Phis. Monmouth Duo result of collected interest.

Pi Phi pledges display the miraculous powers of soap, water and a pledge trainer.

The Pi Phi combo tunes up and "they shall make music wherever they go"—as long as it's not quiet hours!

Pi Beta Phi Poll Was Proof of Well-Rounded Year

An extensive and thorough poll taken in the Pi Phi House (a poll patterned after the excellent type developed by our friendly neighbors to the north, Wabash) showed that all the Pi Phi's thought this to be a very eventful and promising year. Printable results as shown by the poll were:

(1). Engagements: 7. (2). Pins: 16. (3). Hopefuls: 20. (4) Total: 43. (5). Exchanges: Too many. (6). A, B, C, D, and F students: Censored. (7). Church goers: Mrs. Dietz. (8). Reducers: Top secret. (9). Talent (as shown by Friday dinner performances): 0. (10). Combos: 1 (thank goodness). (11). Favorite expression: "Fourth for bridge." (12). Weeknight movie goers: The same old gang. (13). Constantly broke: The same old gang (of movie goers). (14). Favorite Barber: Joyce. (15). Favorite foods: Peanut butter and cottage cheese. (16). Favorite time of year: Summer.

From these results you can see that the Pi Fhi's are a well-rounded (see No. 8), typical DePauw (see No. 16) group of girls.

Mason Hall Girls and Dates Attended Mardi Gras

DORM OFFICERS

Marge Davis	President
Pat Risley	Vice-President

With the largest amount of returning upperclassmen to Mason ever, a bumroom get-acquainted party was hardly necessary. The girls began right away with decorations for Old Gold Day, combining artistic talent with the other dorms. They celebrated Thanksgiving at a faculty dinner with all the trimmings. Decorations for Mardi Gras, the winter dance, had to begin before vacation as it followed too close for comfort on the heels of stuffed turkey. Climaxing '53 was the winning of the volleyball trophy for keeps. May opened with Mason's spring dance—gay, except perhaps for the seniors who, looking longingly back over the fabulous four years, decided it hadn't been too bad after all, even putting up with the freshmen's newness, the sophomores' noisiness, and the juniors' know-it-all importance!

Fourth floor occupants snub obsolete stairways as they enter Mason's elevator—the only one in a DePauw residence.

Girls check in and out at Mason desk just to be sure they haven't overlooked any message or package.

The Freshmen Girls "Lived It Up" at Rector Hall

Rector Hall is the one with the long walk, the side wings, and the most freshmen women. Within it are a host of things that we will remember: the people—the girls next door and across the hall . . . Miss Miller and Georgia . . . The Quad . . . closing time . . . the interminable bridge games . . . the clock in the lounge . . . the dogs on the sofa; the sounds—the study-table bell . . . "Let's party!" . . . "Where's my message??!!" . . . the desk-boy's vain "all right, let's go, it's 12:15" . . . and the closing hour chimes; all these were part of Rector Hall and our first taste of college life. We will remember, too, the friends we made, the dances, dates, and parties we had, and the fun as well as the homesickness that went with our freshman year at DePauw.

Newly pinned couple thought Rector lounge a safe place to talk until a MIRAGE photographer appeared.

Freshmen use dormitory bulletin boards as a substitute for waste-baskets.

Lucy and Flossie Started Freshmen on Their Way

LUCY OFFICERS

Lucy Rowland started learning campus ABC's:

A—Activities—Music, AWS, YWCA, WRA with archery and basketball winners.
B—Books—Quiet hours, five Alpha Lams.
C—Customs—Fire drills, the Boulder.
D—Dates—Blind dates, Snow Flake Swirl, Golddiggers'.
E—Events—Faculty dinners, Lucy's Birthday Dinner.
F—Fun—Underpriviledged children's party, "South Pacific" take-off, original Lucy songs.

Although each Lucy-ite was ready to finish learning the campus alphabet, she hated to see a wonderful freshman year end.

FLOSSIE OFFICERS

Jo Neudecker	President
Sue Wilcox	Vice-President

Florence Hall, affectionately called Flossie' was transformed into a delightful asylum for confused freshmen by the thirty-nine inhabitants. The girls shuffled the furniture in the bumroom and sprinkled its walls with glitter for Frost Fantasy. Mysterious puddles and foreign footprints appeared in the halls—someone had smuggled in a mascot.

"I move we adjourn!" was followed quickly by "Fourth for bridge?" at house meetings.

As summer approached, the "experienced coeds" planned to invade their new residences, and Florence Hall could now adjust itself to normal.

"Good morning! It's 9 o'clock. 8th call. Beautiful day. Eggs for breakfast—get out of that sack!"

ATO's enjoyed a new basketball court despite the inconvenience of cars parked in the playing area.

Delta Rho Chapter of Alpha Tau Omega fortified itself with fourteen good housekeepers in the class of 1957 and then proceeded to tackle the year at DePauw with the same nonchalance as in previous years. A few found time out from the sack to participate in activities; some, aside from the pinmen, had an occasional date; and the rest either went through the motions of studying, played basketball in the backyard, or just stayed in bed.

The year was brightened by the VMI Duo with Sigma Nu, many Wednesday night exchanges and weekend house parties, a strong intramural program, and a remodeled bumroom. Delta Rho kept its monopoly on State Day singing and attendance trophies, while rush weekends and blanket party weather took their toll of study time and threatened to keep us below the all-fraternity average.

A pledge getting ready for a big date requires supervision from more experienced upperclassmen.

Upperclassmen get a few tips from the modern generation as our hero recounts the evening events.

Beta Theta Pi Got "Fired Up" Over Activities

From the first hay-rack party of the fall till the last blanket party of the spring, the school year held many experiences—some annual, some novel—for the Betas. The house speedball team, in recent years always a bridesmaid but never a bride, finally won a trophy. DePauw housemothers again enjoyed themselves at the Beta's annual Housemothers' Banquet. The usual sedate Christmas theme of the house dance was supplanted by a gay New Year's Eve party, complete with eggnog. A fire in the sophomore annex caused great excitement; fortunately, however, one of the brothers had been flushed by a coed that evening and was on hand to call the fire department. The Miami Triad and the Sweetheart Banquet sparked the indoor spring activities. Also on the program were the yearly backyard chicken barbecue, and exchanges with the Thetas, Phis, and Kappas (a rather belated Halloween party).

HOUSE OFFICERS

Norman Strasma	President
Jack Beabout	Vice-President

Mrs. Clifford Tomlinson	Housemother

With no excitement resembling that of last year's dorm fire, Delta Chi once again underwent a comparatively normal year. The big fall dance "Mystic Mobiles" of modernistic motif saw the house decorated with every wierd and surrealistic object imaginable.

Sorority exchanges, serenades, record dances, a Valentine's Day Sweetheart Banquet, and outings at Handy's added further spice to the social program. During the Christmas season, thirteen Greencastle children were guests at the Delta Chi Christmas party.

Old Gold Day, Dad's Day, and Mother's Day weekends filled the house with parents and guests. A continuous atmosphere of music invaded the house as Bill Kennaugh composed the musical score for Monon Revue, and the Delta Chi Quartet stretched their vocal chords.

Intramural sports were again followed with high-pitched enthusiasm, and the cry "Go Big Red" was echoed throughout the entire year.

Popcorn poppers are desirable equipment for diligent students who realize the importance of breaks.

Solutions to fraternity problems and those of the world are oftentimes found in student bull sessions.

Delta Kappa Epsilon Redecorated Bumroom

The Psi Phi Chapter of Delta Kappa Epsilon welcomed fifteen pledges into the conclave at the "Castle on the Hill" in September. Using Old Gold Day as a means to display their mechanical genius to the campus and returning alums, Deke men set up animate decorations entitled "Roll You Tigers." Freshmen turned their backs on the much sung about white Yuletides and presented a non-traditional holiday dance—"Christmas in Blue." Muscle plus time and teamwork produced a refurnished and redecorated bumroom. Not all their time was spent in creative work, however, as the usual exchanges, intramurals, and picnics took time from more intellectual pursuits. Though the Dekes had to move at a fast pace to keep up with campus functions, their trusty Dekemobiles sped them to their appointed rounds.

J. A. LAYTON

Even a minor breakdown of one trusty Dekemobile constitutes a major catastrophe at this house.

Retribution for bumroom dancing on weekends comes soon enough for pledges. Is there no justice?

As a Delt senior looks back on four rigorous college years, several pictures of his evolution stand out. There was that first time after pledging that he stood in awe with his new pledge brothers before austere actives who were saying something about it being a pledge's duty to perform the menial labor, while upperclassmen carried the heavy responsibilities. The next year the tables were turned, and he was an "austere active" himself. Dancing in the spring in the Delt sunken garden and playing ball on the Delt football field were yearly occurrences. And then there were always those "lemonades, blanket parties, serenades," to keep life interesting. He knows his evolution will be complete next Old Gold Day when he returns to "Delta Town" and finds freshmen sleeping on the floor, so he can have a bed.

The DU's never miss a chance to display their musical ability (or is it merely excess energy?)

A dance steeped in all kinds of tradition is the DU Rose Formal. Dozens of roses lent a fragrant atmosphere.

Delta Upsilon Came Out of Hibernation

Because of a small run-in with the hayrack-drivers' union, local 626, the Delta U's spent the second month of their sixty-seventh year on campus within their halls rallying for another bout with the mores. They emerged from hibernation with a coming-out party to end all coming-out parties. Exchanges and date-night parties marked the schedule full until final exams hit with their usual force. The traditional bridge games lasted half the night, the bull sessions, serious and light, ran rampant. Pins came and went, exchange students came and went, and the sophomores' beer mugs came. The TV set was moved up to the living room, which goes to prove that a bumroom's still a bumroom at DePauw. Rusty, however, maintained the title of "Coolest Mover in the House." The Rose Dance was the best ever, and in spite of their slow start, the DU's really made a big year of it.

Lambda Chi Alpha's Pin-men Created Problem

Mrs. Jenny Laughlin	Housemother

"That music's gone, gone," cries clarinetist Jim Humphrey, and the usually calm east-side lodge suddenly transforms into a stomping madhouse. For it's combo time at the Lambda Chi house, and only the confusion that accompanies pledge meetings on Turnabout Day can turn the place into such an uproar. Toulouse-Lautrec seemed to enjoy the efforts of the noble five when he paid a visit to the downstairs cafe on Bloomington Street. A few weeks before, a mammoth tiger clawed an Oberlin yeoman fiercely enough to grab the Old Gold Day trophy.

Fourteen seniors joined the charge of the pinned brigade and caused such a serenade problem that the song group (soon to be known as the Triple Trio) had to present several fall performances. Yet in spite of the diverting efforts of Locust St. annex inhabitants, the house managed to record one of its highest scholarship marks.

In the UB Day jazz concert, the Lambda Chi combo lived up to their campus reputation for popular music.

The first member of his class to be pinned, this Lambda Chi sophomore received a customary quarry dunking.

After pledging twenty-one freshmen, Phi Delta Theta plunged into the campus whirl early this year by setting up an anti-aircraft battery in the front yard in an unsuccessful attempt to knock out the Yeomen on Old Gold Day. Heedless of cries from Washington, the fraternity sponsored their annual formal dance in October—the theme: "Behind the Iron Curtain," complete with hammers, sickles, Stalin, and the Russian National Anthem. Holiday festivities included a tea honoring the new housemother, Mrs. Grace Gibney, and a Christmas party for dates. Initiation followed the chaos of final examinations. With the Betas and Sigs, the Phi Delts joined in presenting the annual Miami Triad dance in the Union ballroom. What with teas, activities, and President Boone's red motorcycle, it was a great eighty-sixth year for Phi Delta Theta on the DePauw campus.

Fiji freshmen vie energetically with each other for the privilege of shining honored trophies.

Freshman didn't labor alone; for actives, besides supervising the "frogs" worked with them.

Phi Gamma Began Rejuvenation Program

The Phi Gams started the year with the beginning of a rejuvenation program which will have the house in tip-top physical shape by 1956. In that year Lambda of Phi Gamma Delta will be the first chapter existing for one hundred continuous years. On the entertainment side the Phi Gams hobnobbed with the horsey set. The reason—in complete innocence Fijis borrowed a section of fence from the Greencastle Saddle Club for the fall pledge dance. Peace was restored, however, without losing any horses.

As athletes the Phi Gams proved it isn't necessarily winning that counts, when they were awarded the Claude Winkler, Jr. Memorial Sportsmanship Award for DePauw Intramurals.

Rounding our their social life the Fijis filled the weekends between their two big dances—the Jeff Duo and Fiji Island Dance—with parties for Halloween, Thanksgiving, Christmas, or just for the sake of a party.

Phi Kappa Psi Re-upholstered Swimming Pool

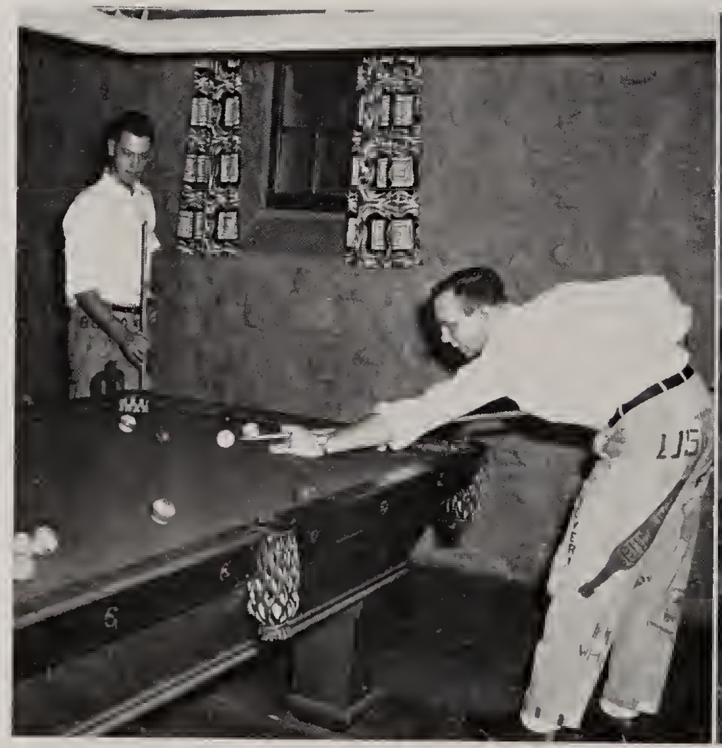
After the pledging of nineteen top freshmen and the start of intramurals, the Phi Psis settled down to another year at the old rockpile. Social functions such as desserts, house parties, and night field surveys crowded the schedule. Racketeers brought the IM tennis trophy back to old Phi Psi while house speedballers fought their way to second place.

Improvements were in order as the famous swimming pool was reinforced and made safe for casual sunbathing. The bumroom was rejuvenated—even well-worn couches were replaced. On the dating scene, mass migration to sorority houses replaced study hours at the television sets.

The rhine boxing bouts headlined the annual Faculty-Businessmen's Smoker, and the Mothers' picnic was enjoyed by the actives and pledges alike. In all, it was a good year and Phi Kappa Psi is looking forward to many more like it.



Pool runs bridge and just plain loafing a close third in Phi Psi fraternity life. Note the exquisite form.

New sounds were hear from the Rockpile this year as three freshmen developed a house combo.

SAE Moved onto "the Row" and Found Social Life

Indiana Delta of Sigma Alpha Epsilon began the year by breaking traditions. Sorority row became sorority row plus SAE when they moved from their old headquarters into the recently vacated Alpha Chi house. This situation caused some embarrassing moments—for example, when the SAEs weren't invited to the sorority row Christmas party. A greater proximity to the Double and to Campus made up, however, for such minor defects. By Old Gold Day the house was in good shape and a replica of East College on the front lawn rang out a welcome to guests who wished to attend their open house. Dances presented a few problems, with more places for decorations to go. All in all, though, spacious surroundings plus a bumroom provided for a more extensive social life and much better all-round fraternity living.

The SAE open house gave girls a rare chance to see a fraternity's quarters from top to bottom.

SAE bridge majors enjoy the atmosphere of their new headquarters with the pause that refreshes.

The Sigs returned to campus only to find the sophomores there already amidst an assortment of paint cans, brushes, and pink and green paint doing, in their words, some redecorating. The freshmen got a good start on the bell by shaving one of their own rushees (he didn't pledge Sig). House pigskinners took more than their share of injuries. In a mass of confusion, the Monon bell was stolen, returned, and the Sig bell mechanism also disappeared. A week of quarantine washed out the R.O.T.C. dance, but the brothers found ways to compensate for that. When the Sigs' house became a medieval Castle for the annual Belle Formal, the most frequent comment was that they should leave it that way. A beautiful dance, it was literally a "Knight for Sweethearts." The Sigs can consider it another successful year with three Gold Key men leading the way.

The coke machine was a good place to meet when Captain Video was interrupted by advertisements.

Sigma Nu entertained at the most informal party of the year when pajamas were the proper costume.

Sigma Nu Shone Once More with Athletic Lites

Sigma Nu expended much effort disproving the unjust reputation weighing on them since their bitter treatment in last year's MIRAGE. After putting the 1953 intramural crown on the mantle, initiating a determined campaign to keep it there, and producing five varsity basketball representatives, cynics began believing some Sigma Nus were athletes after all.

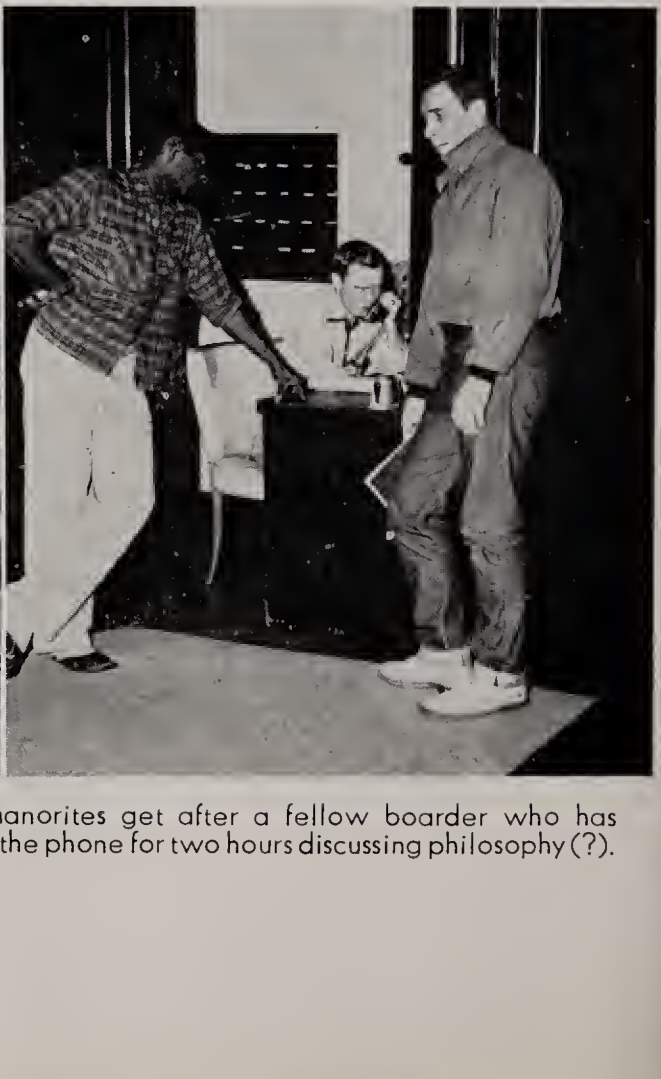
There followed a series of exchanges, serenades, sweetheart banquets, formal and pajama-type dances, featuring white feet and black bumrooms respectively, and the distaff side thought there weren't any hermits in this house.

Promise for a better house structurally was evidenced by summer plans for a reconstructed interior built around the $8,000 head. Discarding the traditional giant Christmas tree erection, which threatened to tear the White Star shrine asunder in days of yore, will preserve the new facilities for the legacies.

Independent Men Played the Game, Too

The Independent roster is a fluctuating one; its members, scattered throughout Locust and Longden, are susceptible both to fraternities and to M.H.A. Active only in intramural athletics, the Indees truly live up to the ideal of "it isn't whether you win or lose, but how you play the game." Such items as scoring points for the opponents, forfeits for lack of players, and a one-cent treasury surplus are a usual thing on the Indee ledger. Their memories are as bright as any other group: the living-room chatter at Locust, the noise of third-floor-north, Longden; the basketball team without a ball, and the marshmallows that grew stale waiting for a victory celebration that never came; the pride for those receiving honors, and the spirit that never gives up despite steady defeat. Those who are G D I's can proudly say, "I'm an Independent."

Books for the intellectuals, DePAUWS for the others are on Locust Manor's after-dinner program.



Locust manorites get after a fellow boarder who has been on the phone for two hours discussing philosophy (?).

General Headquarters of Public Service Company of Indiana, Inc., at Plainfield.

★ Marking Progress in Hoosierdom

• Pleasing sight on U.S. Highway 40 between Greencastle and Indianapolis is the handsome new General Headquarters of Public Service Company of Indiana, Inc., at Plainfield.

Combining administrative with operating and maintenance functions at this new location means lower overall costs—another significant move by Public Service in its quest for economies which make possible dependable, low-cost electric service, in the face of high taxes and rising operating costs.

The character of this new construction emphasizes this factor of economy, for the Administration Building and the three adjacent auxiliary structures are concreted throughout with Lone Star Cement, produced in our Greencastle plant—quality concrete, every yard of it, for lowest annual cost through utmost fire-safety and durability.

This project is part of Public Service's program designed to provide six times its 1940 generating capacity by the end of 1954, in order to meet the increased demand for electric light and power which is a significant measure of Hoosier progress and growth—growth tangibly expressed in construction in general and in cement and concrete in particular, for these are primary raw materials of modern progress.

Song of the Year

(Sung to the tune: "There's A Church in the Wildwood")

There's a little gray shack next to Gobin,
An uglier spot than the jail;
No place is such an eyesore,
As the cruddy little church in the dale.

Chorus:
Drink, drink, drink, drink,
Drink to the hut next to Gobin,
O drink to the mortar and logs
Who took it away from the barnyard,
Let's give it back to the hogs.

It stands there grotesque in the twilight,
For all of the students to see;
They put it up with the money,
That they stole from the old GDP.

Chorus:
Drink, drink, drink, drink,
Drink to the sty next to Gobin,
O drink to our monument great;
No place will ever be as equal
As the dirtiest hole in the state.

Let's take the shack next to Gobin,
Let's take the cabin on the lawn;
And throw in a couple of "extras"
To make it a quaint public john.

Chorus:
Drink, drink, drink, drink,
Drink to the hut next to Gobin,
O drink to the doghouse and john;
No place is so dear to our college days,
As the little brown pile on the lawn.

Few students outside the small brick Publications Building realize the vast number of persons involved in producing a college yearbook. Many of these seldom, if ever, appear on the scene, but all play a vital role in turning out the completed work. At this time, we should like to express our sincere gratitude to the following:

Dr. Forst Fuller for advising us on financial matters and helping us to stay within an extremely tight budget.

Mr. Charles Ammerman for serving the Mirage on the Publications Board and helping us with editorial problems.

Mr. Oliver Rogers of Rogers Printing Company for his technical assistance in assembling the material for press.

Mr. Edwin Hackleman of Indianapolis Engraving Company for cooperating with us in the production of engravings.

Mr. Jack Bundy of the S. K. Smith Company for helping us to design the cover.

Mr. Bill Ehrich for photographing the individual portraits.

Ken Morris and the Publications Photo Service for taking the countless pictures and helping us to meet our engraving deadlines.

The Associate and Assistant Editors for their fine cooperation and capable supervisions of the several phases of yearbook production.

The Assistant Business Managers for promoting sales and advertising.

Bruce Brown and his sports staff for assisting a girl copy editor in an unfamiliar situation.

Garrett Boone for his clever art work.

The staff workers for performing the routine but necessary tasks.

The advertisers for their generous patronage.

And finally, the subscribers for whom this book was written. We hope our ideas and efforts during the past year have resulted in a publication which will satisfy the investment you have made in us. Realizing that our product is far from perfect, we hope you will excuse the mistakes made herein.
